SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 1.—Fifteen hundred Georgians unwound a white ribbon of concrete, 300 miles long, under the spinning wheels of 400 automobiles today as the "Four Capitals" motorcade roared down the new highway linking Atlanta with Savannah and bringing the mountains closer to the coast by a route through the most historic and beautiful heart of Georgia.

With prominent figures in Georgia's political, business and social life found in almost every car, the motorcade developed into a series of welcomes and renewals of old friendships as the travelers paused at each city along the route.

Mayor James I. Key, of Atlanta, and Mayor Thomas R. Gamble were in the lead as the long procession came in from Statesboro, Swainsboro, Louisville, Sandersville, Milledgeville and points north.

As the great caravan reached the Chatham county line, shortly before midnight, somewhat delayed by the unprecedented rush of participants all along the line, the city thousands of city began to peel forth their welcome. Soon the whistles of Savannah industry joined in and as the procession moved in toward the city, thousands lining the streets joined in with cheers that echoed and re-echoed throughout the old buildings which make Georgia's noble history.

In every city, large and small, in every town and tiny crossroads hamlet, school children had dropped their textbooks to stand in cheering lines, waving flags and green boughs, as the long line of cars roared past. Beside them stood the workers from the fields, their reapers and hoes deserted; laborers from the roadside, spades and picks forgotten; housewives from their kitchens, pots and pans ignored, adding their cheers and welcomes to the hilarious bouillottes of the youngsters.

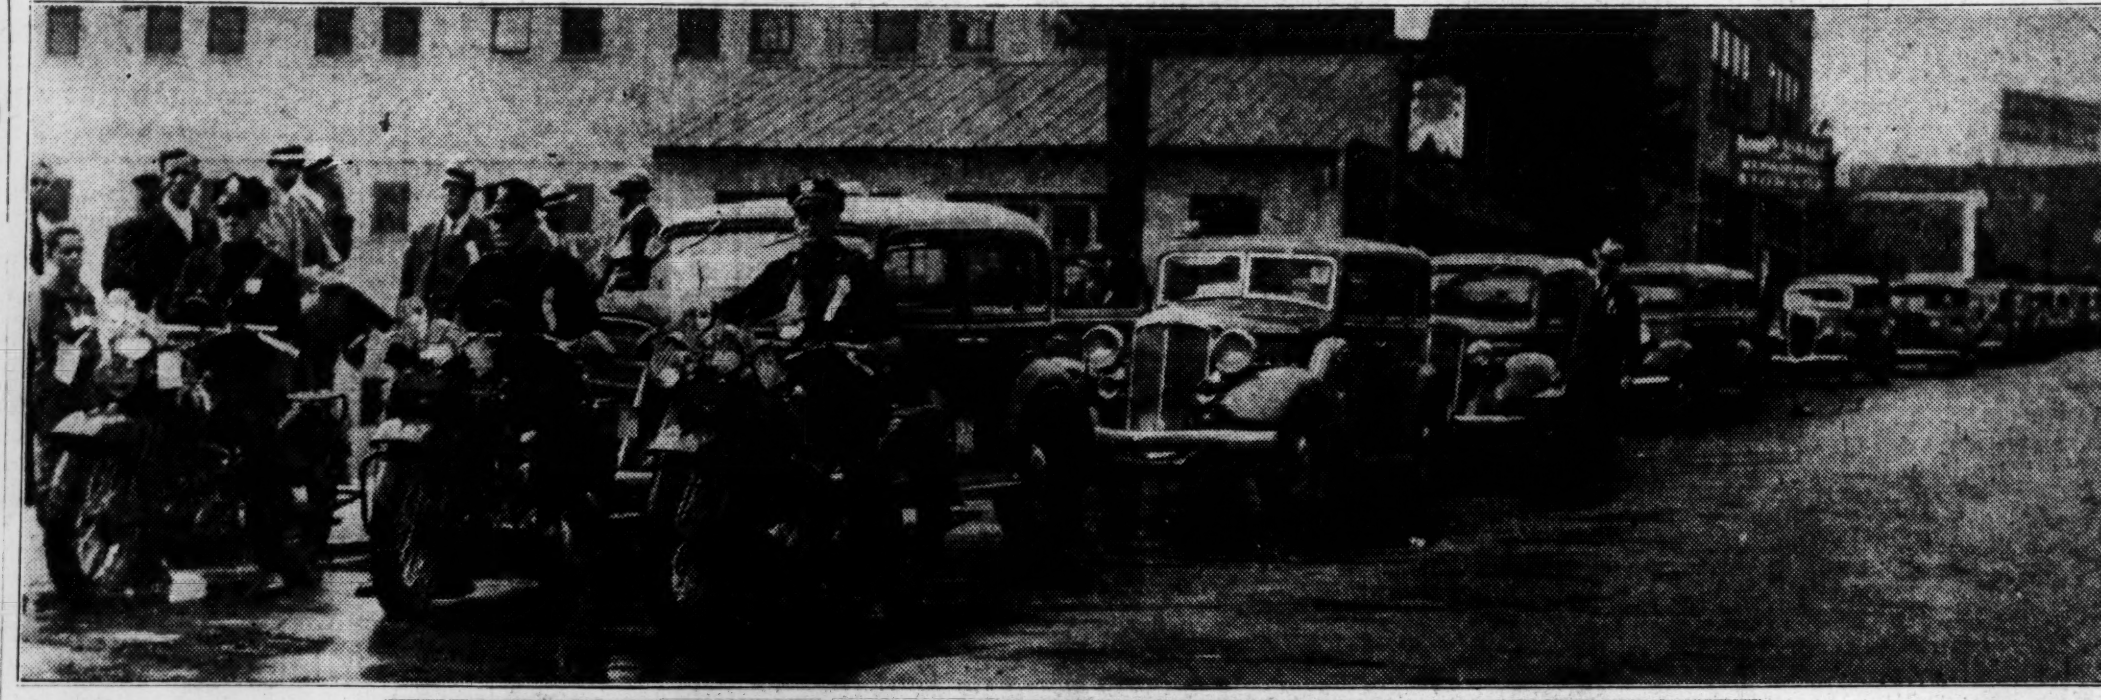

The motorcade moved out of Atlanta at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning, 30 minutes late on its scheduled start. It flowed into the city at 7:30, to be met by streets gaily decorated with lights and bunting, by bands that blared greeting and by hospitable Savannahans who offered highly appreciated food and other refreshments and a great street dance in the center of the city, adding to the more formal dance which filled the famous ball room of the Hotel Du Soto with Georgia's loveliest women and most distinguished men.

A dinner was served at the DuSoto, official headquarters for the motorcaders while in Savannah, immediately upon their arrival.

TALMADGE RAPS U. S. IN BUSINESS

Governor Urges Federal Aid for Merchant Marine in New York Speech

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Governor Eugene Talmadge said tonight the government should get out of business in competition with private enterprise.

"We would all be better off if the government withdrew from business," he said. "They still should exercise those functions of government aid, such as river and harbor control, but they should not compete with those people trying to make a living."

"That goes for the Tennessee Valley Authority, too. The government can't be doing much for the people by being in business."

"Take the banks, I don't believe the government helped—really helped—many of the banks at all."

The governor's views were expressed in an interview after he spoke before the National Foreign Trade convention on "Why We Must Build Up a Merchant Marine."

Wants Strong Marine.

He stressed in the address the necessity for building an American merchant marine to help the United States retain its position as a major power, and he called for a permanent policy toward shipping.

"We have shown an amazing facility for coming through in a pinch," he said, "but having come through we have been all too ready to relinquish our victory. We triumphed first in sail, then in steam. Always, having demonstrated our prowess, we were content to retire from the field, abandoning our laurels to those whose appreciation of the sea was not confined to an emergency."

Aid Urged.

To help American ships compete with the low-wage vessels of foreign powers, he asked for some kind of aid. "It matters not how the aid is given," he said, "but the essential thing is that it be provided in a scientific manner and in an amount to put the American operator in a secure competitive position."

"Our merchant marine has risen and fallen in the past. It has a truly tragic history in that respect. I trust and pray that nothing will now be done to repeat the past."

The first section of the longest line of automobiles ever to participate in a Georgia motorcade is shown above as it formed on the Washington street bridge early Thursday morning ready to take off for Milledgeville, Louisville and Savannah, the state's three former capitals. In the lower photograph are shown a group of state and national leaders who headed the great 'cade. In this picture from left

DILLINGER ESCAPE NEARS SOLUTION

Confession by 'Unidentified Man' Said To Involve Two Others.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Governor Paul V. Nutt tonight announced that the state has obtained a confession from an "unidentified man" involving at least two others in John Dillinger's escape from the Crown Point, Ind., jail last March 3.

He said the state's evidence will be turned over to federal authorities tomorrow.

The governor declined to name the "unidentified man."

Earlier, J. Edward Barco, deputy state attorney-general, who has been in charge of the investigation into the "wooden gun" escape, denied he had brought to Indianapolis Meyer Boggs, of Chicago, who Lake county officers say visited the Crown Point jail several times to see Dillinger.

The governor's statement followed an announcement that James H. Fleming, Fort Wayne, United States district attorney for the northern Indiana district, had entered the investigation. McNutt said a number of the charges which may be brought are for federal offenses.

Barco, who began an investigation into the Dillinger escape several months ago, reported to Governor McNutt tonight. Barco, who had held eight persons from Lake county for questioning in connection with the Dillinger escape, ordered them released here a few hours preceding his conference with the governor.

An attorney for several of them had brought court action in an attempt

Auto Code Extension Seen; Ford Says Slump Is Over

Optimism Rises at Washington Over Chances for Settling Labor Dispute; Manufacturers To Expand Plant.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The industry is reported favorable toward its extension to the end of the NRA law—June 16, 1935. But it wants the code extended as now written.

Labor, through NRA's labor advisory board, is standing by its demand for a public hearing to modify the code. It was revised by Hugh S. Johnson prior to November 3, the present expiration date.

Clay Williams, NRA board chairman; Walter Chrysler, Alfred P. Sloan and Donaldson Brown, the latter representing General Motors, took this situation to President Roosevelt's office. Meanwhile, other automobile makers of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which administers the code, were gathered in New York.

More Confident.

Williams, leaving the president's office with Chrysler and the General Motors chiefs after a second conference in the afternoon, appeared more confident than after the first meeting. Then, the NRA board chairman said:

"We haven't got anywhere. We are always hopeful. The luncheon recess allowed the automobile magnates time to communicate with other leaders. Sloan and Chrysler remained only briefly, with Williams staying longer. All appeared more optimistic than after the earlier meeting."

Those familiar with the automobile situation regarded these factors as significant:

Since a 10-day notice is required for NRA public hearings and only two days remain for the automobile code, labor's desire for a hearing cannot be held.

JURY WILL URGE SCHOOL MERGER

Consolidation of City and County Systems To Be Recommended.

Consolidation of the Atlanta and Fulton county school systems into one county-wide unit, non-political in every regard, is to be wholeheartedly recommended by the grand jury in present session.

The grand jury has been studying the effects of the unified system which has long been established in Macon and Bibb county to the general satisfaction of all.

The presentments to be returned this morning as the grand jury finishes its two months of effort are expected to give the county system a clean bill of health, as well as to stress the advantages of a unified system.

The grand jury is known to have been pleased with the results of its study into the Bibb county situation where the schools have never been faced with closing because of lack of funds to pay teachers or for any other cause save epidemics. It also has been pleased to learn that there is little or no wrangling in the Bibb county system caused by politics.

The Fulton county grand jury has

CHURCHILL STIRS RISING WAR FEARS

Germany Rearming and Using Terror To Hide
Fact, Briton Charges.

By the Associated Press.

"A reign of terror in Germany" to keep the world ignorant of her "feverish" rearmament was the accusation Winston Churchill, Great Britain's former chancellor of the exchequer, leveled at the Nazi government Thursday as Europe's governments worried over the outlook for peace.

LONDON — Churchill, addressing members of his constituency, asserted Germany was rearming "secretly, illegally, and rapidly," and assailed the national government for failing, he said, to speed up its program for air defense.

PARIS — The fear of war overshadowed visits of the French people to graves in connection with All Saints Day, as the government stressed the necessity for national defense, and made ready to throw troops into the Saar if the League's governing commission so requested.

BERLIN — The government newspaper Deutsche Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz warned France she "is playing with fire," and asserted discipline in the Saar is excellent.

GENEVA — The League of Nations council was called to meet November 21 in special session to discuss the Saar problem.

GERMANY IS ACCUSED OF RAPID REARMING

WOODFORD BRIDGE, England, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer of Great Britain, declared today in a speech to members of his constituency that Germany was rearming "secretly, illegally, and rapidly."

In his speech, Churchill rapped the national government for failing to speed up its program for air defense. "A reign of terror exists in Germany in order to keep secret the feverish and terrible preparations they are making," declared Churchill. "Even in organized military machines alone, Germany will have overtaken us before another year has passed."

"The Germans also have gigantic civil aviation with enormous reserves of pilots and airplanes, many of them faster than our fastest military machines," Churchill continued.

"Vice Premier Stanley Baldwin has said, 'Our frontiers are the Rhine.' 'Can we be sure that the men now

OTHER DEFENDANTS
HELD GUILTYLESS

Accused Tells of Spending $200,000,000 in Response to Hoover's
"Business as Usual" Plea

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Denying none of the transactions the government calls criminal, in his mail fraud trial, Samuel Insull defended all of them today as "most usual" and "completely regular."

The worst he admitted was "mistakes," against government's charges that his Corporation Securities Company swindled investors of about $100,000,000.

The 74-year-old former utility executive faced a jury in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court for four hours and 40 minutes, until his attorney asked the judge to adjourn, fearing Insull would collapse.

In that time the accused financier told the jury the story of his life and triumphs as a utility manager, furnishing details of his business affairs always guarded with the utmost secrecy when he was at the height of his power.

Recalling every public service, every success and every honor of his story-book career, Insull twice was in tears, but other times told his story in a vigorous voice, hammering his chair arm. Prosecutors permitted him to make long, rambling speeches. In one of them he absolved three of the younger defendants, who had no responsibility in this situation.

Referring to his former secretary, John F. O'Keefe, Edward J. Doyle and to E. J. McEnroe, all defendants, he said:

"If the prosecution would excuse me saying so, they have no more to do with this case than you gentlemen sitting in the jury box."

He admitted that in 1930 he "ransomed" some of the securities in his major companies from Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland capitalist, paying $500,000,000—far above the market price.

"My mistake was that I didn't arrange for permanent financing of this," he said. "Undoubtedly, it was a great mistake—from hindsight. But was an action any other business man could have taken."

The government charged Insull saddled this "war debt" on the Corporation Securities Company.

He did not discuss the profits made by a "preferred list" of Insull friends, operating in his stocks in 1930, but

Mortgage Loan Rate Set at 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today directed the Federal Housing Administration to fix the interest rate on mortgage loans for building new homes at 5 per cent for the entire country.

This was disclosed tonight by Housing Administrator Moffat when he issued the rules and regulations under which the administration will insure mortgages for new construction.

He made public correspondence between himself and the president in a proposal that the interest rate be varied between 4 and 6 per cent in different parts of the country.

The rate for refinancing of mortgages was fixed at 5 1/2 per cent.

RAILWAY WORKER GIVES 'BOSS' BLOOD AT HOSPITAL HERE

D. E. Lanford, of 408 Boulevard, S. E., chief electrician at the Southern Railway building, in a serious condition from a throat infection, avowed Thursday night that he has about the best helper any electrician ever had.

Electricians and other skilled artisans are prone to brag about the adeptness of their assistants. They glory in the advancements the young helpers make. But few are fortified with such a glowing tribute to their helper as is Mr. Lanford.

His condition becoming steadily worse Wednesday night, doctors at the hospital decided that only a blood transfusion would save his life. The call for donors was sent out. Twenty-five huskies from the Southern Railway responded. Among them were engineers, firemen, brakemen, track foremen and others, but right in the front rank was R. J. Hood, of a Charlotte place address. Mr. Lanford's helper.

"Here, Doc," he said. "He's my boss and I want to give my blood." The doctor explained that it would be necessary to match the blood. A test was made, and Hood's blood matched. He submitted to the transfusion, and at the hospital they said Thursday that Mr. Lanford was showing remarkable signs of recovery, while Hood merely considered his action the duty of the helper.

R. F. LOVE FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for R. F. Love, 50, cashier at the White Motor Company, 70 Boulevard, N. E., who, according to police reports, late Wednesday committed suicide in the shower room of the plant by drinking poison, slashing his wrist with a razor, and firing a bullet through his chest, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the College Park Methodist church with the Rev. Walter Robinson officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

Mr. Love, who resided at 223 East Hawthorne avenue, College Park, who left several notes explaining his actions, had been ill for some time, and three weeks ago was given a 10-day leave of absence to rest. According to friends, he had been for several days on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

MRS. W. E. JOHNSON TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. W. E. Johnson, 73, of 1384 McLeod avenue, N. E., who died late Wednesday at a local hospital after a brief illness, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill. The Rev. Lester A. Brown and the Rev. Ryland Knight will officiate and burial will be in the Duluth (Ga.) cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson was the widow of the late Dr. W. E. Johnson, prominent Atlanta physician, who died seven years ago, and was a native of Gwinnett county. She came to Atlanta 41 years ago to make her home here. She was a devout Baptist and had been active in local church and social circles.

Pennsylvanian Killed.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A mail clerk was killed and three other men were injured in an automobile-truck collision on the highway near here early today. The victim, Charles L. Lehr, 38, Pottstown, drove the machine.

THEY CHANGED THE FACE OF THE EARTH

In the 1900's, about the time when the first frail airplanes appeared in the sky, America started building new and better roads. Since then, thousands of miles of modern roads have advanced across the land to accommodate a nation on wheels. Good roads quickened the changes that railroads and automobiles set in motion. They connected farms, cities, towns, and isolated regions with a network of city streets. They helped to weld a country of loosely joined communities into one nation.

Just as fast, reliable transportation encouraged the exchange of food between the North and the South, the East and the West — so better roads increased this trade throughout America.

In joining the states of the nation still more closely together, thus stimulating national trade, modern roads made it more necessary than ever before that such an organization as A&P do the work of getting local foods to the rest of the country cheaply and quickly.

Patient Is Improving From Talking Malady
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—(P)—Lloyd Huffey, 21-year-old youth brought to a hospital for observation because of his continuous talking for four days following an automobile accident, was proceeding at reduced speed today.

Huffey interspersed his talking with periods of rest. Physicians said they believed he would recover without the use of medicine.

American Title Association at the close of its annual convention here.

Henry R. Robbins, of Philadelphia, was elected vice president, and James E. Sheridan, of Detroit, and L. S. Werner, of Toledo, Ohio, were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Board members who were re-elected are Mrs. Pearl K. Jeffery, of Columbus, Kan.; H. M. Paschal, of Atlanta, and Charles H. Buck, of Baltimore.

Site for next year's convention will be selected later.

Mothers! HOW MUCH THE

New NUCOA saves!

says Mrs. S. R. Dull
THE SOUTH'S FOREMOST FOOD AUTHORITY

Children love this delicious spread for bread... made with pure whole milk and the finest American vegetable oils

HOW delighted you'll be when you first try this amazing new Nucoa! Like thousands of other women, you'll find that nothing is more delicious as a table spread... and few foods so rich in certain vital, body building elements that growing children need. Yet—it saves you one third to one half over the one you are probably using.

You'll find too that it is perfectly marvelous for cooking—as a shortening, for pan frying, in sauces. Never before has a product so low in cost served this DOUBLE purpose. But the new Nucoa does perfectly... because it is totally unlike any margarine you have ever known. It is made only from pure, whole milk and the finest American vegetable oils... combined, by a new process, to give you the new Nucoa. A food discovery that cuts down your grocery bills amazingly. And a food your family will love.

The American Medical Association, through its committee on Foods, has approved NUCOA's purity and quality. Good Housekeeping Bureau has also placed its covered seal of approval on this amazing new food discovery.

POSSE IN CAROLINA HUNTS NEGRO ATTACKER
LEXINGTON, N. C., Nov. 1.—(P)—Several hundred men, many of them armed, combed the countryside near Thomasville today for a negro accused of attacking a white girl at pistol point.

Three suspects were taken before the victim at the Thomasville jail, officers said, but were released when she failed to identify any one of them as her assailant.

Prison Body To Hear Plea of Lee Monday

The state prison commission announced Thursday that it will hear arguments next Monday on an application for pardon filed in behalf of J. D. Lee, convicted slayer of Bennie Lichtenstein. The application was filed by Lee's attorney, Arthur W. Powell, who said he was asking clemency on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

Lee was twice convicted, the first verdict being set aside by the supreme court. The second verdict was affirmed a few weeks ago and Lee was taken to the Milledgeville prison farm after spending three years in the Fulton tower.

At each of Lee's trials the state used as a witness against him Harry Kosnoffsky, who pleaded guilty and also is serving a life sentence for the crime. In his application for clemency Powell attached an affidavit from Kosnoffsky in which he now claims that he perjured himself on the stand. The affidavit also charges that he was forced to testify by the solicitor-general and that he "expects" a pardon for the testimony.

heart early Thursday morning at his home near Lithonia. Mrs. Skelton told the coroner's jury that she was awakened about midnight to find her husband rigging up a shotgun with strings. She said she pleaded with him not to shoot himself but that her pleas were in vain. The widow said that Skelton stood in front of the muzzle of the gun and pulled a string which caused it to fire the fatal shot. The body is at the Turner Undertaking Company in Decatur. He is survived by his wife, his father, J. C. Smith, of East Point; two brothers, J. O. Smith, of Atlanta, and Thurman Smith, of East Point; four sisters, Mrs. R. T. Boone, of Union City; Mrs. J. F. Spier, of Hapeville; Mrs. J. J. Neill, of Hapeville; and Miss Della Mae Smith, of East Point. Funeral plans have not been completed.

SUICIDE IS VERDICT IN DEATH OF SKELTON

Verdict of suicide was returned Thursday afternoon by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Robert Skelton, 50, found shot through the heart early Thursday morning at his home near Lithonia.

Mrs. Skelton told the coroner's jury that she was awakened about midnight to find her husband rigging up a shotgun with strings. She said she pleaded with him not to shoot himself but that her pleas were in vain. The widow said that Skelton stood in front of the muzzle of the gun and pulled a string which caused it to fire the fatal shot.

The body is at the Turner Undertaking Company in Decatur. He is survived by his wife, his father, J. C. Smith, of East Point; two brothers, J. O. Smith, of Atlanta, and Thurman Smith, of East Point; four sisters, Mrs. R. T. Boone, of Union City; Mrs. J. F. Spier, of Hapeville; Mrs. J. J. KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES

HUSBANDS RELISH CRANBERRY DISHES.

From a Man's Viewpoint.

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach," but many women fail to recognize that their husband's loss of appetite is a direct reflection on the lack of versatility in their menus.

When a steady repetition of the foods he once thought you, and you alone could cook to the queen's taste, begins to become tiresome—little wonder, what then?

Let an ordinary man solve your problem. Capture his appetite with cranberries.

No man can resist their flavor, tang and goodness. No woman can resist the simplicity of preparing these appetizing dishes. The sauce, pies, conserves, jellies, salads and desserts will be a sure fire hit with friend husband.

Watch his face light up with surprise when you serve a rip-sizzling cranberry pie after an ordinary dinner or watch his manner change to zesty eagerness when you slip a luscious cranberry salad next to his dinner plate. These two dishes are extremely simple to prepare.

Crisp-Cross Cranberry Pie.
Pie crust, 4 cups cranberries, 1-1/2 to 2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons water, 1-1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon melted butter.

Line a pie plate with pie crust. Chop cranberries; mix with other ingredients; and fill pastry shell with this mixture. Place strips of pie crust over the top and bake in a moderate oven 25 to 35 minutes.

Cranberry and Orange Salad.
One package orange gelatin, 2 cups cranberries, 1 medium-sized orange, 1-3/4 cups boiling water.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Free orange from seeds and membrane. Put cranberries, orange and peel through meat chopper. Mix with chilled gelatin. Pour into molds. Chill until firm. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

As long as I started this, I might as well include my favorite cranberry dish, with an explanatory tip to all wives.

I am one of those husbands who, in the wee small hours, steal the "chicken-for-tomorrow-bridge" or slyly slice a slab of Aunt Minnie's chocolate cake and mate it with a glass of milk. Many a time I have shrunk (and as a rule I am not a shrinking husband) under the withering glance of the Lady of the House after such an escapade. On one of my foraging expeditions I discovered a most promising cake, tucked well back on the pantry shelf, into which I covertly slid a knife twice in the conventional "Y" shape. I not only did it once but three times—it was that good, all fruit and light. Boy, that was and is a swell cake, for subsequently, the Lady of the House informed me that thereafter such a delicacy would await me on such nights when she had a specially doleful distasteful dinner in her sanctum and which she did not wish me to pilfer. The name of this food for the gods is cranberry torte—easily made and costs very little.

Cranberry Torte.
Four eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup sliced dates, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 cup water, grated rind of 1-2 lemon, 1-1/2 teaspoon salt.

Beat sugar and yolks until light, add water. Mix flour, baking powder, chopped nuts, dates and rind of lemon. Add this to the yolks. Lastly fold in stiffly beaten whites. Bake in one long sheet or two layers in a moderate oven, 375 degrees Fahrenheit. When cold spread with the following filling:

Two cups cranberries, 1 cup water, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, grated rind of 1 orange.

Boil sugar and water five minutes, add cranberries, rind of orange. Cook until all pop. Add cornstarch which has been mixed with 1 tablespoon cold water. Cook two minutes longer. Top cake with whipped cream.

A delightful refreshing drink served cold is a just accompaniment to an evening snack—try the cranberry juice cocktail—it is an excellent mixer for other cocktails or drinks you may wish to serve, too.

Cranberry Juice Cocktail.
Four cups cranberries, 4 cups water, 2-3 cup granulated sugar.

Cook cranberries and water until all the skins pop open (about 8 minutes). Strain through cheese cloth. Bring the juice to boiling point, add sugar and boil for 2 minutes. Serve cold. For future use put in sterilized bottles, well corked and sealed.

So, madam, try these dishes on your husband and observe that: "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

SPICY BREADS GUARANTEE DISTINCTION FOR SUNDAY MORNING BREAKFASTS.
If you have guests, Sunday morning breakfast is a fashionable solution that is also economical and labor saving. Serve chilled grape fruit juice, cereal and cream, crisp bacon with scrambled eggs, plenty of hot coffee and—for a gala touch of distinction, one of the new spice meat breads. You will have a breakfast that tempts and satisfies.

Spicy Cinnamon Buns.
One (9-ounce) package dry mince meat and 1-2 cup water boiled almost dry, 3 cups flour, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, beaten; 2-3 cup milk, 6 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup brown sugar, cinnamon.

Break dry mince meat into pieces. Add cold water. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Boil to brisk boil; continue boiling for three minutes, or until mixture is practically dry. Allow to cool. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar and salt and sift again. Cut in shortening. Beat egg and add milk. Blend thoroughly with dry ingredients to form a soft dough. Turn on slightly floured board and roll into oblong sheet about 1-1/2 inch thick. Spread with cooled mince meat. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut into 1-1/2 inch pieces. Cream together butter and brown sugar, spread on bottom and sides of 8 by 8 by 2-inch pan, sprinkle with cinnamon. Place rolls with cut edges down in prepared pan. Allow to stand 10 minutes. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees Fahrenheit, 15 minutes, reduce heat to 350 degrees Fahrenheit, and bake 20 minutes longer. Remove immediately from pan.

ILLNESS AFFLICTS DOWAGER MARIE AND 2 DAUGHTERS

BELGRADE, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The dowager Queen Marie, of Rumania, and her daughters, the Queen Mother Marie, of Yugoslavia, and Princess Ileana, all are ill.

Dowager Marie is suffering from influenza contracted during the funeral of her son-in-law, the assassinated King Alexander, of Yugoslavia. Marie, of Yugoslavia, has gallstones. Princess Ileana, now living near Vienna and expecting another baby, is suffering with a high fever.

While none of the royal personages, with the possible exception of Ileana, is considered dangerously ill, their physicians say that they will require careful nursing and rest, especially as their conditions have been aggravated by a terrific nervous strain resulting from Alexander's assassination.

N. Y. Capital Prepares For Hunger Marchers

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Informed New York state's "hunger army" might attempt to march on the New York capitol tomorrow, state police tonight said the demonstrators would be welcome in the building if they are orderly.

"If the hunger marchers want to come to the capitol, they will be treated the same as anybody else," said a spokesman for Major John A. Warner, superintendent of state police.

Mayor John Boyd Thacher attempted, however, to persuade the marchers to change their plans. A delegation, headed by a negro, told him the 200 marchers now in town would attempt to enter the capitol with demands for "winter relief, unemployment insurance and relief for small home owners."

"If you will change your plan and send a small delegation, I will go with them myself to see that they are not molested and that their requests are carried to the governor's office," the mayor said.

U. S. SEES DEFICIT PASS BILLION MARK

Roosevelt Aids Confer on Problems of Budget for Coming Year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The big job of budgeting next year's governmental expenditures set President Roosevelt and his aides busy at work today as huge emergency outlays carried the deficit for the current year into the billion-dollar class. Harry L. Hopkins, in charge of the most uncertain item of all governmental disbursements—relief—lunched with the chief executive. The latter then went into conference with Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget.

The deficit meanwhile ran into 10 figures—$1,026,788,908—and stood at a point almost three times as great as a year ago, despite a sizeable increase in revenues and the fact that RFC loan repayments were considerably greater than disbursements to new borrowers.

Routine Expenses Cut.
For the present, budget makers concentrated upon routine expenditures of the various departments and bureaus, in an effort to chip them to the lowest point compatible with efficiency, a procedure always attended by some wailing from the heads of the agencies affected.

Toward the end of the year, they said, accurate estimates of relief requirements will be available, and then it will be possible to shape the budget for transmission to congress. None would hazard a guess at how much must be spent to care for the destitute this winter.

Regarding the possibility of balancing the budget at the end of the next fiscal year, administration officials are studiously silent. However, those who keep in close touch with treasury developments are little probability of such an accomplishment. A substantial increase in business activity might bring the treasury's figures close to a balance.

Task Before Bell.
The budget job is complicated this year by the fact that the budget must be completed for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1935. In addition, estimates for the next fiscal year must be formed. Because of the uncertainty surrounding emergency disbursements, this year's budget was left in an elastic state by the president and congress last winter. The budget message which he will send

Mrs. Talmadge, Friends Leave on Great Motorcade

Georgia's first lady, Mrs. Eugene Talmadge, is shown in the above photograph as she prepared to embark on The Atlanta Constitution-The Savannah Morning News great Four Capitals motorcade Thursday morning. The governor's wife is shown in the center. On her left is Mrs. Lindley W. Camp, of Atlanta, wife of the adjutant general, while on the right is Mrs. Lucy Cameron, of McRae, clerk of the Tallahasse superior court.

'Oh Lawd, Oh Lawd,' Darks Chants As 4 Miles on Wheels Ends 'Cade

By RALPH MCGILL, Staff Correspondent.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 1.—(AP)—"Good, Lawd," he said. "Good, Lawd, will you look at dat."

He was old and bent. He said he remembered when Sherman's troops came through Georgia. And he may have. He was old and wrinkled and toothless and black. And he stood there saying, "Good Lawd. Good Lawd."

He was pretty reverent about it as one should be about an unusual sight. And this venerable old colored man was watching four miles of Georgia on wheels rolling on its way from Atlanta to the sea. He was in a cabin just outside of Louisville and I stood there with him.

The four miles of Georgia on wheels happened to be The Constitution motorcade which was rushing along in one way parade, picking up supporters at every town.

When the motorcade was joined by 100 cars at Statesboro it was numbered near 500 automobiles in a long line.

The day has been a procession from one triumph after another. Some 150,000 people saw this motorcade today. They were present at every town.

And at Savannah, as the motorcade passed through the city, the greatest thing about this motorcade is the manner in which The Atlanta Constitution is read. Everyone in the motorcade, whether he be a member of the city square while the motorists paused to stretch and chat with the citizens for five minutes.

And, of course, at noon Millidgeville's young ladies served the lunch. And at Statesboro, where a brief stop was made while the cars ate a meal on a section of street where there was no dancing.

But when all is said and done the greatest thing about this motorcade is the manner in which The Atlanta Constitution is read. Everyone in the motorcade, whether he be a member of the city square while the motorists paused to stretch and chat with the citizens for five minutes.

FLARE ENGINE KILLS SAVANNAH OFFICER On the Radio Waves Today

W. S. Winn, Motorcycle Escort, Run Over by Truck.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A crack in a chimney cost the life of Chatham County Policeman William W. Winn here this afternoon. Smoke seeping through the crack into a house in the western section of the city made a woman think the building was ablaze. She turned on an alarm. A fire apparatus answering the call ran over and fatally injured the policeman. He died in a hospital 30 minutes later.

Officer Winn was in the group of police officers escorting the Savannah contingent of the capital to coast motorcade when he got hurt. The motorcade continued on from Statesboro to Savannah after a brief pause.

Two wheels of the fire engine passed over the policeman's body after the heavy vehicle had collected with him on his motorcycle at the western end of the viaduct which spans railroad tracks to the west of the city.

One of two engines answering the alarm had already passed the police detail, and Officer Winn apparently did not realize that a second was oncoming. He swerved slightly, fellow officers said, and the fire engine could halt, had been knocked down and run over.

Officer Winn, who wore badge No. 13, had been on duty for seven years. He leaves a widow and one child.

Five days ago, Officer Perry L. Anderson, motorcade guard, was killed when his police car crashed into a tree.

C. C. Horton, driver of the fire engine involved in today's accident was placed under bond by city police on the charge of involuntary manslaughter.

And its historic environs, band concerts at historic sites, visits to United States destroyers in the harbor, a shore dinner and oyster roast at the country club and a great night club entertainment at the DeSoto, the world-famous dancing tavern cabaret, await the visitors.

On Saturday, after an early breakfast, the motorcade will re-form and proceed to Jacksonville, where the Georgians will occupy a section at the football game between the University of Georgia and the University of Florida.

The first stop today was at Conyers, where Mayor J. Will Cowan extended greetings and himself joined the motorcade, adding a third member to the list, with Mayor James L. Key, of Atlanta, and Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah, occupying car No. 1 in the procession.

Sanford Joins 'Cade.

President S. V. Sanford, of the University of Georgia, with Mrs. Sanford and others from Athens, joined the 'cade at Madison, where a brief stop was made while the cars ate a meal on a section of street where there was no dancing.

At Conyers, thousands of children lined the streets, while a similar demonstration was staged at Rutledge. A brief stop was made at Rutledge, where the cars ate a meal on a section of street where there was no dancing.

FAKE CLAIMS INQUIRY CONTINUED BY COUNTY

Two Lawyers Under Indictment Make Bonds of $500 Each.

Bills against two additional Atlanta attorneys are expected to be presented to the grand jury today for consideration as a result of an investigation of an alleged widespread damage suit, swindle scheme by which Atlanta firms are said to be fleeced out of sums aggregating $250,000 a year.

Thomas E. Scott and Robert F. Turnipseed, two lawyers indicted by the grand jury Tuesday, and Dr. B. F. Williams, physician, had made $500 bonds each Thursday. Under order of Judge John D. Humphries, the two attorneys were released on their own bonds, while professional bondsmen signed for Dr. Williams. Scott and Turnipseed are charged with cheating and swindling and Dr. Williams with false swearing.

The attitude of the Atlanta bar with regard to any attorney who engages in such practices is set forth in a statement made Thursday by a prominent Atlanta attorney, in which it is said that at a recent meeting of about 100 representatives of business concerns plans were made to support Solicitor General Clegg in his investigation of the alleged scheme.

The efforts being made to break up the practice is said to be in line with American Bar Association to purge the bar of unworthy members, to raise the standard of the profession and to restore public confidence in the bar as a whole.

Stating that the indictment against him was the result of "a partisan investigation," Turnipseed, Thursday night, requested his Atlanta friends to retain their faith in him, and stated that "when my side has been presented in court their faith will have been justified."

Lindsay on Ballots To Be Ready Today

Official ballots containing the names of both Reuben A. Garland and Lindsay as the democratic nominees for the legislature from DeKalb county are to be furnished election managers today for the general election next Wednesday. V. H. Morgan, the county ordinary, announced Thursday as Garland halted temporarily at least, his thus far futile efforts to obtain court orders to keep Lindsay off the ballot as a democrat.

Wholesale Grocery Robbed by 2 Gunmen

Two middle-aged gunmen robbed the Day & Take wholesale grocery at 1235 Courtland street, N. E., of $100 in cash shortly before 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon after forcing the manager and clerk to lie face downward on the floor.

The robbers scooped up all the cash in the register and fled, H. L. Dupre, manager, told police. He described the men as being middle-aged. He said they entered the store and forced him and Rex Rogers, clerk, to hold up their hands and then lie on the floor while the robbery was in progress.

PRISONER AT AUGUSTA EXTRADITED TO S. C.

The governor's office announced Thursday that extradition of E. M. O'Shields, arrested in Augusta during the recent textile strike, had been ordered to Aiken, S. C.

G. E. W. Britt, chief of police at Augusta, wrote Governor Talmadge recently that O'Shields was arrested during the textile strike, with "several sticks of dynamite" in his possession. Britt said the governor of South Carolina had revoked a parole granted O'Shields on a manslaughter sentence from Aiken county. The South Carolina request for extradition described O'Shields as a fugitive from that state.

WRITES FOR J. W. CRAIG IN TAMPA, FLA., SUNDAY

John W. Craig, 46, a former resident of Atlanta, died Monday morning in Oteen, N. C. He had been suffering from poor health for more than three years. Mr. Craig was a veteran of the World War and saw service overseas in the 17th division engineers.

He is survived by his wife, one son, J. C. Craig, of Oteen; a sister, Mrs. J. C. Lebbe, of Atlanta; three brothers, A. S. Walker, of Atlanta; B. L. Walker, of Jacksonville, and G. H. Walker, of Cincinnati; a grandfather, J. P. Conner, of Ellijay, and his mother, Mrs. W. A. Walker, of East Point. The funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Greenman's funeral parlors, in Tampa, Fla., and burial will be in that city.

Winners Are Given Checks In King Hardware Contest

W. W. McManus, treasurer of the King Hardware Company, yesterday awarded to those women's clubs or Sunday school classes having the largest percentage of their membership to register in the contest inaugurated by the well-known hardware company. It was necessary to arrange in proper sequence 25 words which were distributed in different departments. When properly arranged, the correct answers proved to be "The Home Modernization Sale, now in full swing, presents splendid values in every department. King Hardware stores have been headquarters in Atlanta 50 years."

First prize of $100 went to the Fidelis class of the Westminster Presbyterian church. Second prize of $25 went to the St. Charles Garden Club. Third prize of $15 went to the Epworth Methodist Club. Fourth prize ($10) went to the Mothers' Class of the Park Street church (M. E.). Fifth prize went to the Homemakers' Club of Kirkwood. Mrs. W. C. Ford received the check for the Fidelis class; Mrs. R. A. Williams for the St. Charles Garden Club; Mrs. E. D. Brewer for the Epworth Club; Mrs. Arthur Hale for the Mothers' class, and Mrs. C. A. King for the Homemakers Club.

The contest was conducted during the Home Modernization Sale which King Hardware held from October 13 through October 20.

World's Fair Pillaged and Sacked By Unruly Crowd on Last Night

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(P)—A roving horde of last nighters pillaged and sacked the Century of Progress until well hours today, doing damage estimated by officials at $100,000.

They tore buildings apart, broke down sign posts for souvenirs, threw chairs and benches into the lagoon and protesting policemen in after them, and became entirely unmanageable. Discarded bottles crashed from everywhere, including the skyride which was promptly closed. The crowd roared when a fat man, wearing a stolen table cloth as a toga, leaped onto the hood of an expensive car and shouted "Yippee, come and get me."

The crowd uprooted and carried off rare plants and shrubbery. It charged the Italian village and littered it with wreckage because Sally Rand said it was too cold and she wouldn't do the bubble dance.

Dancers and models in the peep shows gathered up their scanties and fled before the surging mob, and any number of concessions were closed before they had intended.

Rail and motor traffic was tied up for miles around the grounds and all onto the hood of an expensive car and shouted "Yippee, come and get me."

ATLANTA MERCHANTS TO HEAR OVENSTONIGHT

President of National Retail Dry Goods Association To Talk at Capital City Club.

Merchants of Atlanta are looking forward with great interest to the address to be delivered at the Capital City Club, by David Owens, of Charlotte, N. C., president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and chairman of the National Retail Code Authority, on the subject "The Retailer in the New National Picture."

The dinner tonight in his honor will begin at 6:45 p. m., and his talk will follow.

Mr. Owens' official duties have kept him in touch with the national administration in Washington and his address is expected to be of great value to the retailers who attend.

A representative gathering of the executives of the retail stores of Atlanta will greet Mr. Owens. In addition a number of retailers from other cities in Georgia will be present, as well as some distinguished guests from other lines of business.

T. C. Dickson, president of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association, will preside. Mr. Owens will be introduced by Frank H. Neely, a vice president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

Mr. Owens will arrive in the city Friday morning and will be entertained at a luncheon meeting at the Capital City Club at 1 p. m. to be given by J. E. Allen.

Most every bit of available walking space in the grounds was jammed. The mob surged this way and that, and proceeding independently to any given point in opposition to the mass movement was virtually impossible.

The crowd ate every restaurant and sandwich booth out of food and drank every beer spot out of beer.

Impromptu drummers struck up parades, one of them decorated with British and Japanese flags torn from some exhibit. Disorder at the Streets of Paris was precipitated when one man shoved another into a bar and the shoved gentleman retaliated by throwing a bottle. The panic was on. The "Merry Go Round" bar was demolished. A fire hose finally subdued the mob.

One dizzy visitor appropriated a street cleaner's broom and began, in all the hubbub, to clean the debris away.

Ambulances screamed. Police whistles blew. The crowd roared. And the exposition died violently.

Work in Birthday Plans Of Veteran Pressman, 71

William M. (Bill) Turner, monarch absolute of The Constitution pressroom, where he has labored year in and year out since he was 14, will observe his 71st birthday anniversary today.

There will be a small dinner at the Turner home but it must be served early as it is Friday and there is a big paper to get to working on this evening and birthday or no birthday, Mr. Turner must be down there watching his presses thundering the news to The Constitution's far-flung subscribers. Anyhow the oldest employee of The Constitution in point of service doesn't believe much in celebrations and he certainly does believe in work.

Jackson Takes Over Hapeville Postoffice

R. L. Jackson, well-known resident of Hapeville, took office as acting postmaster of Hapeville Thursday, succeeding Zach Adamson, who resigned.

The postmastership of Hapeville has been hotly contested and Adamson, a former banker, resigned several weeks ago after serving more than a year on a temporary appointment. Jackson was appointed temporarily to fill the post and he is expected to be certified by the postoffice department. He formerly operated a mercantile business and was connected with a tire and rubber company in Hapeville for more than 20 years. His residence is at 833 North avenue, Hapeville.

RICH'S BOOKSHOP HONORS MILTON TODAY

George Fort Milton, prominent southern author and editor, will be the guest of honor at a tea given by Rich's book shop, Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. All friends of Rich's are cordially invited to be present.

Mr. Milton is editor and publisher of the Chattanooga News, one of the most progressive southern newspapers. He is the author of "The Age of Hate," a history of the life and times of Andrew Jackson.

His latest book, published October 29, is "The Eve of Conflict" dealing with the pre-war years in the north and south, and centering around the career of the "Little Giant," Stephen A. Douglas. Mr. Milton will autograph copies of his books at the tea in Rich's book shop, Friday afternoon.

CORVIDAE.

The one highly maligned family of perchers seems to be the one that includes the crows and jays. Some readers of this column have begun to mourn for me as a lost soul because I will not class the jay as a highly undesirable neighbor. Possibly a word of explanation is in order here.

You may have noticed through occasional words in this column that I am first of all a conservationist. I am for the protection of all wild life. Where there is some control necessary, let it be as little as possible, in order that nature forces and species may recover their normal status when the need for control is past. I am not even in favor of killing the rattlesnakes. They serve some sort of purpose in the natural balance and therefore are valuable. Where they are in too close contact with man let's kill those that might endanger our lives, but on the wild hills and prairies, let the rattlers live. By adopting extreme examples, I am hoping to make my stand on the blue jays more clear.

No one has ever proved to me that the jay is the rascal he is often called. I have never seen any great amount of damage done by jays. Now, remember, I did not say they did no damage. I have seen them kill the young of other birds. I have seen them break up nests. Certainly, then, they should be destroyed, according to some of my readers. I still say that when the jay kills a young bird or breaks up a clutch of eggs, he is simply satisfying his own need for a bit of protein in the diet. You who raise all sorts of protest against the jay for feeding himself on necessary food elements should also refrain from indulging in tenderloin steaks. I just see that happening.

On the credit side of the ledger, I want to say that I have seen jays strip a shrub of caterpillars and thereby save its foliage. I have seen them

4 Confessed Robbers Get Long Pen Terms

Four confessed robbers were given long penitentiary terms Thursday when they entered pleas of guilty before Judge James C. Davis in DeKalb superior court.

Two of the men, the McKinney brothers, Julius and Willie D., were given from seven to 12 years each when they pleaded guilty to robbing the Bank of Tucker October 6. Each of the men was given an additional 12-month sentence on a charge of pointing a pistol at one of the robbery victims.

Olin Moore and John Sewell entered pleas of guilty to burglary in connection with the burglarizing of a store at Scottdale October 6 and the theft of an automobile. Moore, a two-time previous offender, was given from 10 to 15 years, and Sewell, a first offender, was given from three to five years.

George Knapp, 55, Dies In Sanitarium Here

George Knapp, 55, of 204 Rumson road, southeastern regional manager of the R. T. French Company, of Rochester, N. Y., and prominent in wholesale and retail food products circles throughout the south, died at a local sanitarium Thursday after a brief illness.

A resident of Atlanta for the past eight years, Mr. Knapp, who was a native of Philadelphia, was a member of the Lafayette Lodge, F. & A. M., of Philadelphia, and locally was a member of the Kiwanis Club, the City Salesman's Association and the Atlanta Food Promotion Association. He had been employed by the R. T. French Company for more than 25 years.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Miss Martha and Miss Blanche Knapp, both of Atlanta; two sisters, Miss Mame and Miss Florence Knapp, both of Philadelphia, and a brother, Gilbert Knapp, also of Philadelphia. Funeral services will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

ATLANTA, GA., NOV. 2, 1934.

A TRIUMPHAL PROCESSION

The monster motorcade, sponsored by The Constitution and the Savannah Morning News, that left Atlanta Thursday morning for Savannah to celebrate the formal opening of the new four-lane highway assumed the nature of a triumphal procession as it neared its goal on the coast, with several hundred cars added to the 200 gaily decorated machines that formed the nucleus of the tour.

In the number of automobiles entered and passengers carried, the attention attracted to the procession over the 300 miles traversed and the elaborate entertainment proffered the tourists, the motorcade far eclipses any event of similar nature ever held in the south.

The record-breaking size and importance of the motorcade was matched by the enthusiasm of the motorists as they gathered early Thursday morning for the start of the tour. Many hundred strong, the tourists showed by their effervescent spirits the keen anticipation with which they looked forward to the warm greetings and round of dinners, dances and other entertainments to be staged in their honor.

The coming of the motorcade proved to be one of the outstanding events in the history of Milledgeville, and the welcome extended by the people of the beautiful little city that was for many years capital of the state was in keeping with the spirit and the importance of the visitors. A similar reception was tendered during the brief stay in Louisville, another former capital, and Savannah, noted for its lavish entertainment of visitors, opened its gates wide for the coming of the approximately 2,000 persons who took part in the motorcade.

At Madison, Milledgeville and Statesboro, where the welcoming party from Savannah in some 200 cars joined the line of the procession, the motorcade swelled in size until it stretched for miles as it reached the southern terminus of the highway.

Taking part in this epochal celebration staged to mark the formal opening of one of the state's most important highways were representatives of the state government, a large number of members of the Georgia delegation in congress, and the mayors of Atlanta and Savannah and of the incorporated communities along the line of the route. In addition to these representatives of the state and local governments, hundreds of leading professional and businessmen of the state took part in the tour.

The giant motorcade, composed of powerful and luxurious motor cars, bearing many hundred men, women and children, is a far cry from the state's first motorcade, sponsored by The Constitution a quarter of a century ago, in which a handful of cars of low power and doubtful reliability, and carrying only a handful of hardy souls, struggled over the rough roads from Atlanta to Columbus.

That trip of less than a hundred miles required 15 hours' time, while Thursday's great procession traversed the 300 miles between Atlanta and Savannah in little less than half the running time.

The triumphant procession that wended its way from the mountains of north Georgia to the coastal section of the southern portion of the state was a fitting celebration of the development that has taken place in road building and the manufacture of automobiles during the quarter of a century since the motorcade to Columbus.

REFERENDUM ON COTTON ACT

The decision of the members of the Georgia delegation in congress, meeting in Atlanta at the call of Senator George, to ask Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to call an immediate referendum on the Bankhead act, seeks similar action by the government on the cotton control program, as has already been taken with reference to the corn and hog program.

The latter program has been centered in the grain and meat-producing states of the middle west and the balloting to date has resulted in an overwhelming majority in favor of a continuance during 1935 of the adjustment program of this year.

In this referendum more than 15,000 polling places have been set up in order that the producers of corn and hogs can make their wishes known. So far 500,000 ballots have been cast out of a possible 1,400,000. Of these votes, approximately 350,000 have favored retention of the farm program and 150,000 opposed. While ballots have been cast in every state in the Union, the totals have been negligible except in the farm and hog belt in the middle west.

There has been far more objection by cotton producers to the workings of the Bankhead act than has been evidenced by the corn and hog producers to the program controlling their output. Especially is this true in the case of the small cotton farmers.

Undoubtedly the referendum suggested by the Georgia delegation will serve a good purpose in clarifying the situation which has arisen from the widespread criticism of the act. It has been largely responsible for the present profitable price of raw cotton, but should the producers register material opposition, the necessity would be emphasized for either the elimination of objectionable features, or the substitution of some other method of protection against the production of bumper crops in future that would again create a large surplus and bring another disastrous drop in prices.

The probability is that Secretary Wallace will be favorably inclined to call the suggested referendum, since indications are that it will be welcomed by the growers in all cotton-producing states. It can do no harm, will cost but little and will serve a good purpose, whatever the outcome of the balloting.

Senator George and the other members of the Georgia delegation have rendered a good service in crystallizing the existing sentiment into a definite request on Secretary Wallace that the referendum be held.

Reduced to the last analysis, the members of this Christian congregation find themselves in a position where, if they conscientiously believe the bootlegger a greater detriment to public morals than the controlled sale of liquor, they must relinquish their church connection if they follow the dictates of their conscience.

FANATICISM AT ITS WORST

A regrettable example of fanaticism is furnished by the Rev. Frank T. Littorin, pastor of a Quincy, Mass., church, who has notified the members of his flock that any who vote in an approaching election in favor of liquor licenses for the community will have to resign their membership in the congregation.

The question of whether bootlegging or the sale of licensed liquor is, to say the least, a controversial subject, with merit on both sides, but this minister would close the doors of the church in the face of those who do not agree with his individual opinion that, of the two, legalized sales are the worst.

It is to be assumed that Quincy is not different from the overwhelming majority—if not all—of American communities as regards bootlegging. Certainly if sentiment in the community were so dry as to bar all bootlegging activities, an election would scarcely have been called on the proposal of licensing the sale of intoxicants.

Reduced to the last analysis, the members of this Christian congregation find themselves in a position where, if they conscientiously believe the bootlegger a greater detriment to public morals than the controlled sale of liquor, they must relinquish their church connection if they follow the dictates of their conscience.

The attitude of this Massachusetts minister is no different from that of the high priests and pharisees who were denounced by the Savior in the Court of the Temple. If the church is to prosper, its members must be allowed to follow the dictates of their earnest and conscientious convictions.

The total meat consumption per capita per year is about 143 pounds, according to the Dawson News. But that doesn't include all of the baloney people have to swallow.

It's a good nut year, says the Springfield Republican. Yes, but the voters should quit electing some of them to such high offices.

The department of justice now has 4,400,000 fingerprints on file. The idea is not to flatter with crime.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Astoria.

At this writing in the city of Barcelona, the town is quiet. Few people venture outdoors. But shopkeepers are required to have their stores open. Soldiers guard the main streets. Electric lights in the shop windows are obligatory. The government has issued a proclamation that whoever is not back at work tomorrow will be discharged. That was the day before yesterday.

Nobody has obeyed the order. Soldiers are manning the electric light plants, the telephone offices, the tram cars. But no train carries a single passenger. The soldiers look on and wonder. Shots are falling in the night. The revolt in Spain is not finished, by any means. From Astoria comes news that the miners are battling the troops and have repulsed them a dozen times.

Foolish government for publishing this news. This gives new heart to the revolutionaries everywhere else. Tonight the firing in the suburbs was much heavier.

What Will the End Be?

If you are honest and see things impartially, you must agree that the revolutionaries are fighting for the maintenance of the republic, while the government has a non-democratic plan of administration in view. The revolutionaries feel that the government has fascist plans, and in truth it looks that way.

This terrible outbreak ought to be a lesson that the mass of the people want no tampering with the constitution. But that is perhaps a little too much to expect. M. Latorre, the army behind him and can impose his will for the time being. For the time being, I say, because I have looked at the soldiers and they are becoming sick and tired of the whole business. They may stick it out this time, but there will come a day when they will make common front with the revolutionaries. That is inevitable. And where will Monsieur Latorre be then? It's a nasty show here in Spain, the nastiest show I ever saw.

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

IRON AND HUMAN NATURE.

Last fall family doctor treated me for anemia without results, writes a reader. I noticed your note for simple anemia and had two pills of the iron tonic made up. I took it for two months with wonderful results. But it seemed as if my iron were becoming affected. I had my eye doctor check my glasses. So I discontinued the iron and started taking calcium lactate for a day or two.

It is human nature, isn't it?

But then, I should be the last to find fault with this particular trait. For if you would be it if you were not for the fine testimonials readers send in about the practical value of the things they find in this column? I'd have been sent back to the mines long ago.

The recipe for simple anemia: Into a pint bottle put four ounces of iron tonic. Add one ounce of iron and ammonium citrate or official Ferri et Ammonii Citras. Fill the bottle up with water. The dose is a teaspoonful after meals three times a day, taken in half a glassful of water, with some fruit juice as you like, and sweetened to taste.

This dose is four or five times larger than we formerly gave, but we know now that in order to get the effect of it medicinally we have to give more iron in a day than the entire blood contains. I'm telling this in order to reassure readers who take the iron tonic for simple anemia against the doubts old time pharmacists may raise about such large doses. The latest edition of the Pharmacopoeia gives the average dose of iron and ammonium citrate as about one-fourth of the amount in a teaspoonful of this recipe.

Use of iron will not injure the teeth in any way. Nor is it constipating. On the contrary, some persons have to stop taking it, or cut the dose in half, owing to a diarrhea it sets up.

But if you can take it for two or three months, it may give you the "wonderful" result of the Niagara Falls reader had from it.

Of course the iron had nothing to do with the eye affection. More likely this has been accounted for by the iron tonic. I'm telling this in order to reassure readers who take the iron tonic for simple anemia against the doubts old time pharmacists may raise about such large doses. The latest edition of the Pharmacopoeia gives the average dose of iron and ammonium citrate as about one-fourth of the amount in a teaspoonful of this recipe.

People will take iron on their own hook, and so they may as well take it in a harmless and perhaps effective way.

British Arms Inquiry

Regarded as Certain

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(P)—Great Britain's political situation today, plans an investigation of the private manufacture and sale of war materials.

The government also will propose an international conference to discuss manufacture and exportation of arms with a view of joint control, it was believed.

Although official confirmation was not given, the Daily Mail said the government's decision was a result in part of the inquiry held by the United States senate and because of the deadlock in the world disarmament conference.

During the Washington munitions probe several references were made to Great Britain and Vickers-Armstrong, powerful British munitions and shipbuilding firm, figured in the testimony.

One of Federal Titles

Is Lost by Richberg

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—Donald R. Richberg lost one of his titles Wednesday, but more definitely than ever he remained the man depended upon by Mr. Roosevelt to synchronize New Deal agencies and efforts.

The president announced at his regular press conference that the executive council had been merged into the national emergency council.

Richberg was executive secretary of the former. He remains executive secretary of the consolidated agency, however, and he also continues to head the industrial emergency committee which was set up to draft NRA policies.

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon

RECOVERY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The strongest assurance business has yet received from President Roosevelt lay hidden cautiously behind that promise he made yesterday to restore government wage cuts next July 1.

The question of wage restoration is trivial in comparison with the deeper underlying significance.

Those closest to the presidential desk realized that here was the first business prediction Mr. Roosevelt had made since he entered the White House. Only they know that the president had to have the general business picture primarily in mind in determining the government wage scale. Only they realize that his announcement meant he had reached the conclusion that the fall upswing would not change the existing situation materially, but that the spring improvement of 1935 would bring actual recovery.

METHOD To get the proper significance, you have to know the inside method by which the president arrived at his conclusion. The law says he shall restore government wages whenever the normal price level is restored. There is nothing in the law which requires him to announce it nine months in advance. In the ordinary course, he would wait until prices were restored and then ask congress to restore the last 5 per cent of the 15 per cent pay cut.

Mr. Roosevelt's excuse for making the announcement now was that he wanted to put it in the budget. That excuse is thin because he does not have to have it in the budget. He could ask for a deficiency appropriation any time.

What happened on the inside was that Mr. Roosevelt's bureau of labor statistics informed him privately that prices and values would not be restored this fall, but would be in the spring. Now the cat in that bag is that there is nothing to business except prices and values. When they are restored, business is restored.

The implication was well known at the White House when the announcement was made.

WEIGHT Government economic calculations sometimes go far wrong. Mr. Hoover's advisers made a bad record for themselves. Since then, the New Dealers have tried to tighten up on their calculating, and have avoided open predictions. They have succeeded in some degree in tightening up. Their estimates of this year's business, made in the preparation of the budget last fall, were apparently not far off.

The thing is largely guess work, of course, but it is the best available guess work. The guessers have a lot more avenues of information than you have.

STRAWBURRS A New Dealer tells this new version of what may be an old story about the soap box agitator in Union Square. He says the fellow was haranguing about the revolution, drawing luscious pictures of what would happen when it came.

"Dese people on Park avenue," said the earnest haranguer, "are living in beeg apartments and eating strawburrs and crim. Come the revolution and you also will live in beeg apartments and eat strawburrs and crim."

A little fellow down front in the crowd protested loudly at this, saying he did not like strawburries and cream, whereupon the haranguer leaned over, shook a finger in the little fellow's face and shouted:

"Comes the revolution, and you will eat strawburrs and crim—and you'll like it."

TROUBLE Chairman Williams, of the NIRA, does not know it yet, but he is in for some of the same kind of trouble that stormed around the pulsating head of General Johnson.

A. F. of L. mischief makers have been quietly preparing a report on Mr. Williams which is anything but laudatory of his labor views. This was done under instructions from the A. F. of L. convention. In a few days, President Green will call on Mr. Roosevelt and present the document, which is supposed to include some very strong words.

But that is not all the bad news for Mr. Williams. It seems that, unbeknown to him, the foodstuffs division of his NRA has concocted a code for his tobacco industry and sent it out to the industry.

That is unusual, and somewhat ironical, in view of the fact that Mr. Williams was formerly the spokesman for the codeless tobacco industry.

NOTES Apparently, Mr. Richberg is not giving up his co-ordinating job, even though NRA duties have been entrusted to him. He is still using the co-ordinator's office and is devoting little time to the NRA.

Several bankers must have fainted when they heard that Sidney Hillman, the labor leader, has been assigned to handle the bankers' code in the NRA. Almost as amusing is the fact that tobaccoist Williams has been given the automobile code, while the tobacco code is in the hands of a motorist.

General Johnson may be out of NRA, but he is not out of touch. He holds frequent telephone conversations with members of the new governing board.

TVA-ers have a new slogan: "TVA seeks to make two bulbs glow where one glew before."

An applicant for a TVA job was required to state his length of residence in his community. He replied: "My length of residence is 29 feet 11 inches." He failed to get the job.

If the Sights Are Wrong, the Gun Must Be Aimed Where It Isn't Meant To Hit

By Robert Quillen

For some reason beyond understanding, the man who would do well must first evade nature's effort to trick him.

He has nothing to guide him except his reason, yet the way that seems reasonable is wrong. He cannot trust his own mind.

There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof is ruin.

He covets the friendship of his fellows and reason tells him to court them and make deliberate effort to win their favor, but they are so constituted that his advances serve only to make them suspicious, contemptuous and resentful. It is only by indirection that he achieves his purpose. When he ignores them, they decide he is some one worth knowing.

He wishes to preserve his life and reason tells him to keep indoors and wrap up well and avoid all hardship, but when he does these things he becomes soft and a germ kills him. Only by risking his life can he develop the hardihood to keep it.

He wishes to be happy and reason suggests a deliberate effort to find happiness; but the harder he tries to achieve it, the more his unhappiness grows. Yet when he forgets himself and quits all effort to be happy, he soon finds himself content.

He covets ease and freedom and reason prompts him to make money as a reasonable means to that end, but when he is rich he is burdened with affairs and cannot walk the streets alone for fear of assassins and kidnappers.

Reason tells him to be selfish and think of himself alone, but his selfishness raises up enemies and every hand is lifted to defeat him.

And that, perhaps, is the solution of the whole matter. He is selfish by nature, and it is selfishness that tricks him. He that would have his life shall lose it; but when he learns that ancient truth and wisely reverses his methods, he obtains without effort the blessings for which he struggled in vain.

The tragedy of it is that "common sense" chooses the road and few realize it is the wrong one until the journey is ended.

Morgan's Resources

Increase 40 Million

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(P)—J. P. Morgan & Co., private bankers, reports a $40,000,000 increase in resources since June in their statement of condition of October 17.

The statement, which included deposits in foreign institutions, constituted the second report of the company's financial condition during the congressional banking investigation.

The current report was in response to routine calls from banking authorities for quarterly statements.

Deposits of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Drexel & Co. totaled $306,168,155 on October 17, compared with $271,823,364 on June 1, the date of the last statement.

Capital of the company remained at $25,000,000, while surplus and undivided profits declined to $30,545,162 from $30,907,111 in June.

Total resources of the company were listed at $334,695,255, compared with $344,251,629.

Stolls To Push Case

Against Robinson Sr.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 1.—(P)—Members of the Stoll family, William A. Stoll said Wednesday, feel that Thomas H. Robinson Sr., of Nashville, should be brought to Louisville for trial in the Alvin Karpis kidnaping case.

William A. Stoll is a brother of Harry V. Stoll, whose wife was abducted and ransomed for $50,000 this month.

His view of the case was expressed after Thomas J. Sparks, United States district attorney, announced that a new hearing for the elder Robinson would be set for November 9 in the federal district court at Nashville.

Thomas H. Robinson Jr., fugitive named by federal agents as the actual abductor, with his father and his wife, Mrs. Frances Robinson, are under federal grand jury indictment here as jointly liable for the crime. Monday, United States Commissioner Julian Campbell, after hearing evidence in Nashville, decreed that defense attorneys refuse the indictment so far as Robinson Sr. was concerned, and released him.

California Tilt

Is Dizzy Affair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—The current campaign between Mahatma Upton Sinclair and Governor Frank Merriam, the old wrist-clip horseshoe pitcher from Iowa, has developed into a spectacle the like of which has never been seen in American politics.

This is the first time that the citizens of any community ever have been asked to choose between two candidates, each of whom has been endorsed by his own party as no fit man for the office.

The democratic statesmen have been going around warning the citizens that their candidate, Mahatma Sinclair, does not know enough to pour paint out of a plug hat and will be sure to ruin the state if elected.

Merriam Seems

To Be the Worst.

The republican other hand, insist with equal enthusiasm that their man, Mr. Merriam, is a rare combination of the qualities which make for all-around, free-style usefulness in public office and, if left to himself, would make one of the worst Governor-elect in the history of the state.

Of course, they do not plan to leave him to himself. Anyone who is at all familiar with the records of some of California's governors of the past will realize that this bold claim on behalf of the old wrist-clip horseshoe pitcher takes in a lot of territory.

There is a little of Len Small, of Illinois, in Governor Merriam and a little of Governor McNutt, of Indiana. As an old Sunday school teacher and prohibitionist, he possesses in strong measure the character of Senator-elect Bilbo, of Mississippi. He remarked rather proudly to your correspondent that in all his years in various offices nobody had ever made an attempt to bribe him, and took this as a mark of deference to his high honor. It did not occur to the old horseshoe pitcher that when anyone wished to buy him that person would not go to him but to those whom George Creel described as his medieval advisers. One does not buy an ox from the ox.

BIG GAIN IS NOTED
IN PINE TREE DEMAND

State Nursery to Increase
Output From 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 Trees.

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The increasing demand of Georgia landowners for young pine trees for planting has caused the Georgia forest service to arrange to triple the output of its nursery here.

B. M. Lufburrow, state forester, said this year's output of 1,000,000 pine trees would be increased to 3,000,000 or 3,500,000 trees. He said the Albany nursery had been unable to supply the demand for trees since its establishment several years ago.

Lands at present unproductive will be planted in trees, Mr. Lufburrow added, and the owners will profit in future years.

ATHENS MAN KILLED

Sewer Worms Attack Human.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 1.—(AP)—W. Earl Broach, government expert on sewer worm control here to direct efforts to block the spread of the parasite among cattle, reports removing 33 sewer worms from the leg of a Richmond county farmer.

The Worms, Broach said, had attacked a sore on the farmer's leg and had embedded one inch in the flesh.

Although the case is the first found among humans in Richmond county, Broach said a number of cases had been reported in areas where infestation is high prevalent.

Juror Takes Stand
In Case at Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A juror in a divorce case here stepped from the jury box to the witness stand today to testify.

The defendant husband formerly worked for the juror's firm, so was called on to testify. The wife was awarded a divorce and $30 a month alimony.

Testimony of the juror is allowed by law.

Record Number Ships
Enter Savannah Port

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A record number of 119 commercial vessels entered the port of Savannah during October, surpassing by two the previous record set during the same month in 1933.

Sixty-four of the ships were ocean-going freight carriers, as distinguished from the two Atlantic coastwise services. The flags of the United States, Great Britain, Norway, Italy, Sweden, Great Britain, Japan and Holland were flown by the ocean-going ships.

Ships from the navies of the United States, Great Britain and France also visited here during the month in connection with the celebration of the 15th anniversary of the siege of Savannah.

GERMANY TO RESUME PAYMENTS TO BRITAIN

Accord on Dawes, Young Bonds Seen as Healing Trade Rift.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(P)—Britain tonight believed Anglo-German trade, halting during recent months of controversy, was off again on the right foot.

A settlement of the dispute between the two nations over payment of Germany's commercial obligations in Great Britain was announced by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, in which Germany agrees to continue interest payments on the Young and Dawes loans held in Britain.

Although Runciman cautioned exporters that the agreement does not remove all obstacles in the path of trade, the agreement provides that Germany, at the outset at least, will issue foreign exchange certificates without restriction for the import of United Kingdom goods into Germany.

Should the trend of trade subsequently show restriction necessary, the German government may impose temporary limitations after consultation with the British government.

The Reichsbank, the agreement stipulated, will provide immediately 400,000 pounds (approximately $2,000,000) to help liquidate outstanding German commercial debts, chief barrier in the way of her purchasing further British products.

COMMITTEE APPROVES LAUNDRY ORDINANCE

An ordinance prohibiting delivery or operation by a laundry in Atlanta on Sunday received the approval Thursday afternoon of the ordinance committee of city council.

The committee deferred action on Councilman Frank Wilson's measure to enforce auto inspection twice yearly for all cars operating in Atlanta until its next meeting.

The laundry ordinance prohibits picking up and delivering laundry on Sunday, but excepts hotels which do laundry within the building for its guests. Members of the laundry association here said two laundries were operating on Sunday at present.

ATLANTA-CHARLESTON AIR FARES LOWERED

Air passenger fares between Atlanta and Charleston will, in future, be computed on a direct air mileage base, instead of the actual mileage rate used hitherto, it was announced by Delta Air Lines. Inasmuch as planes for Charleston are routed by Augusta and Columbia the old system of arriving at the fare has added considerably to the amount.

The company, Oscar Bergstrom, local traffic representative stated, is now operating seven passenger cabin monoplane equipped with radio and heated for cold-weather travel. He pointed out that the present passenger rates are the lowest in the history of air transportation. Delta Air Lines carry mail between Dallas, Charleston and intermediate points.

Ginghams, Socks in Vogue At Agnes Scott College Today

"Ain't it good, Doctor?" So say Mary and Mildred Thompson, twin seniors at Agnes Scott, to Dr. Philip Davidson, head of the college's history department. The McDonough, Ga., twins today are wearing their kiddie clothes for the last time, Saturday being investiture and the passing of childhood. Staff photo by George Cornett.

By ALICE CHAMLEE.
Short gingham skirts and socks will be in vogue today on the Agnes Scott College campus as the 81 members of the senior class observe the annual "little girl day" in preparation for the investiture ceremonies which will be held Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock in the Agnes Scott chapel.

Today, the seniors will appear on the campus in the dresses of their childhood, but tomorrow they will be formally invested with the dignified caps and gowns that signify the arrival of young womanhood.

Miss Annie May Christie, associate professor of English and one of the faculty advisors of the senior class, will deliver the investiture address.

Legion Commander Goes to Nashville

National Commander Frank A. Belgrano, of the American Legion, left Thursday for Nashville after paying a visit to Atlanta, the first official visit since his election last week at the Miami convention of the Legion.

Before departing the Legion leader made a hurried trip to Veterans' Hospital No. 48 and spent a time visiting with his former comrades. Commander Belgrano told the patients that "we are on the job for you now just as we have always been."

Woman Machine Gunner Leads Oklahoma Raid

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1.—(P)—A young woman, armed with a machine gun, and two young men robbed two filling stations southeast of Oklahoma City, trussing six victims and escaped with $16 and a supply of gasoline and oil after cutting telephone wires last night.

While the woman held a machine gun, her companions bound two filling station operators, the wife of one and three motorists. No trace had been found of the robbers today.

DEMOCRATS REPORT $92,294 IN EXPENSES

Republican Party Heads Also File Statement on Campaign Costs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—The democratic national committee reported to the clerk of the house today it had received $83,102 and spent $92,294 in the political campaign from September 1 to October 25.

This is just about the same as the republican committee's showing for the same period, lacking five days.

The democrats reported a current campaign balance on October 25 of $21,294.

Unpaid obligations of $477,767 remain from previous election, most of which is a hang-over from the Alfred E. Smith 1928 campaign.

The republican committee's statement, filed a week ago, showed receipts of $90,205 and expenditures of $92,690 for the period from September 1 to October 20, and a deficit on the latter date of $52,150 for all campaigns.

The democratic account showed two payments, one of $5,000 on September 1 and another of $10,000 October 16, on the 1928 loan by John J. Raskob, former party chairman. A total of $80,250 was still owed Raskob.

It showed also the committee still owed $34,026 on a loan from Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the security and exchange commission, $107,571 to the National Broadcasting Company and $47,650 to the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Among the contributors to the present campaign were Secretary Morgenthau, who gave $10,000, and Chairman Jesse H. Jones, of the Reconstruction Corporation, who, with his brother, John Jones, donated $5,000.

Other large contributors were August A. Busch Jr., St. Louis, $5,000; Erwin C. Uhlhorn, Milwaukee, $5,000; state democratic executive committee of Alabama, $4,000; Charles Lederer, Chicago, $2,500; Walter P. Chrysler, New York, $2,500; J. M. Patterson, New York, $2,500; Julius Steiner, New York, $1,500; J. J. O'Leary, Plunking, N. Y., $1,500.

Those who contributed $1,000 each included John P. Sullivan, New Orleans; E. P. Greenwood, Dallas; H. L. Sear, Dallas; Nathan Adams, Dallas; R. L. Thornton, Dallas; Fred F. Florence, Dallas.

The senior procession will be led by Charles Raper, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Raper, who is mascot of the class of 1935, and Miss Elizabeth Alexander, Atlanta, president of the class. Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the college, will preside.

Investiture is one of the oldest and most impressive ceremonies of Agnes Scott, having been observed annually on the first Saturday in November since 1908. It is at this time that the members of the senior class first wear their caps and gowns and "are invested with the dignity of seniorhood" in the capping ceremony.

Reuben White, south Fulton county farmer, shot a week ago Sunday by Joe Fred Lassiter in a row over a crop, died of his wounds late Thursday afternoon at Grady hospital.

Shot Wounds Fatal To Fulton Farmer

Lassiter, who was arrested and charged with assault with intent to murder, has been released by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, whose investigation is said to have shown that he shot White in self-defense.

Arrangements for White's funeral have not been made.

Skelton is survived by his wife, two sons, W. R. and Robert Skelton, both of Lithonia; a daughter, Mrs. Frank Lyons, and a sister, Mrs. Will Berry. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Wesley Church and burial will be in the churchyard, in charge of A. S. Turner.

COL. BAILEY ASHFORD DIES IN PUERTO RICO

Discoverer of Hookworm Disease Was 61 Years Old.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 1.—(P)—Colonel Bailey Kelly Ashford, who treated 300,000 persons in his first campaign against the hook worm disease which he discovered, died today. He was 61 years old.

Retiring after 30 years of service in the United States army, Colonel Ashford continued his research work in medicine, becoming widely known as an authority on tropical diseases, and especially anemia.

He went to France with the first division during the World War and received the Distinguished Service medal, as well as the Cross of St. George and St. Michael from England for his medical services with the British at the front.

WILLIAM KROGER.
ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 1.—(P)—William Kroger, 79, who with his brother, R. J. Kroger, of Cincinnati, founded the Kroger chain of grocery stores, was found dead in bed today in his room at a hotel here.

Hotel employees who had gone to the room to clean it discovered the body. Dr. J. I. Carroll, county coroner, after an examination of the body, said that death was the result of an attack of angina pectoris and that Mr. Kroger probably died last night.

The former grocery store magnate in recent years had divided his time between Asheville and Florida. Kroger's only surviving close relative is his brother. His wife died a number of years ago after he had moved to Asheville.

ANGUS GILLESPIE

TROY, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(P)—Angus Gillespie, 70, retired vice president of the Cluett-Peabody Company, died Wednesday night at his hotel dairy farm 10 miles from Troy. He was appointed treasurer of Cluett-Peabody in 1916 and advanced to the vice presidency in 1921. He retired in 1928.

CAPTAIN JAMES BROWN

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 1.—(P)—Capt. James Brown, 84, who knew the Mississippi river's bends and bars from Cairo to New Orleans, died in a hospital here today.

One of the oldest licensed pilots on the river, Capt. Brown started steamboating in the days when rivermen had to know the bad places, for there were no lights along the river to guide them.

G.O.P. CANDIDATE QUILTS RACE IN TENNESSEE

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Nov. 1.—(P)—Nat. G. Taylor, republican, has announced that he will not be an independent candidate for congress in the first district.

Taylor's associates said his withdrawal from the race followed a ruling by Attorney-General Roy Beeler that there must be a separate qualifying petition filed in each county of the district, signed by voters of each county.

Coast Air Defense System Is Proposed by Floridan

Atlantic, Pacific Bases, Supported by Interior Reinforcement Stations Are Urged by Wilcox.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Recommendations for the establishment of a series of great air defense bases over the country, located at strategic points and designed to make the United States invulnerable against attack, were laid before the House aviation committee today by Representative Mark Wilcox, of Florida.

At the same time the commission heard proposals from E. R. Armstrong, head of the Seadrome Ocean Dock Corporation, of Wilmington, Del., for government aid in financing the construction of huge seadromes to facilitate trans-Atlantic flying.

In one of the most comprehensive programs for air defense yet submitted to the House, Representative Wilcox recommended that three of the air bases be established on the Pacific coast, three on the Atlantic coast and one each at Panama, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska. Reinforcing these frontier units, he proposed also that 10 interior air bases be established at such points as to permit an expeditionary concentration of air forces on either coast in the event of attack.

Plan suggested.

Exhibiting an elaborate series of charts showing the interlocking of the proposed bases, the Florida congressman recommended that each post be given a complement of 100 to 150 military planes, including bombers and pursuit types, together with auxiliary blimps and kite balloons for observation and scout duty.

Ascertaining that the north Atlantic offers the greatest potential air trade artery of the world, Mr. Armstrong urged the commission to recommend the construction of four seadromes for air traffic between the United States and Europe. The cost of the seadromes, placed at $7,500,000 each and located at 600-mile intervals, would be less than terminal facilities required for dirigibles, he said.

The witness revealed that efforts are now being made to interest the French government in an international corporation to develop the sea landing docks.

Public Works Aid

Public works funds should be made available for building the seadromes, he said, emphasizing the aid to employment that would result.

Recommendations for a separate air force were also presented to the commission by Representative Wilcox. He criticized the army general staff's proposals for reorganization of air corps administrative functions and expressed doubt that an effective air service can be maintained without a separate corps.

"Surface ships of the navy cannot adequately defend our frontiers," he told the commission. "Anti-aircraft guns cannot afford adequate protection against air raids. Only land-based aircraft stationed at strategic points along the frontiers and supported by adequate forces in the interior can afford protection against invasion by enemy aircraft."

Representative Wilcox listed a number of cities which he said offered strategic advantages for the location of the proposed great defense bases, including Portland, Ore.; Seattle, Spokane, San Diego, Los Angeles, Sacramento and San Francisco in the Pacific area, together with Miami, Norfolk, Atlantic City, Boston, Portland, Maine, and Long Island on the Atlantic seaboard.

The interior and Great Lakes bases would be selected from a list of half a dozen or more suitable cities in those areas, he said.

Destruction Threat

A graphic description of the destruction enemy aircraft might accomplish in the event of war was presented by Mr. Wilcox in the form of a rectangular chart superimposed over a map of the United States, with Boston, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis serving as points of the rectangle.

"Within this area, representing but ten per cent of the territory of continental United States," he said, "there is located 45 per cent of the total population, 55 per cent of the wealth and 60 per cent of the industry. With new types of planes built and designed, it would be possible to paralyze the area through destruction of transportation lines, bridges and water supply to such an extent that 45 per cent of our population would be ready to sue for peace at any price."

"Only through the establishment of a comprehensive system of national frontier air defense bases, augmented by interior air posts, can the nation make its shores invulnerable from attack."

Tire Prices Increase

Almost 18 Per Cent

AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 1.—(P)—Prices of automobile tires took their biggest price increase in years today as major producers apparently abandoned this industry's old-time practice of "savage competition."

The average increase will be about 18 per cent, although on a few lines of unusual sizes the advance cost to the consumer will range as high as 75 per cent, tire men said.

F. A. Seiberling, president of the Seiberling Rubber Company, sounded the keynote of a "new deal" for the tire industry as the price increases, effective today, were announced.

"The savagery of the past has been thrown into the wastebasket, and there appears to be a new hopeful feeling in the industry," he said. All of the major companies, including Goodyear, Goodrich, United States and Firestone, took the lead in the price boost, and the smaller manufacturers are following along, Seiberling said.

He predicted another increase of 10 per cent is in the offing, as the rubber industry seeks to escape the conditions of recent years in which the depression and price-cutting competition have combined to cause tire manufacturers heavy losses.

The principal cause of the present increase is the higher cost of production, P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, said.

TRAFFIC CASUALTIES DOUBLED IN ATLANTA

11 Killed, 222 Hurt in October Compared to 4 Dead, 101 Injured in September.

Atlanta Thursday counted its October accident toll and found that traffic crashes had taken 11 lives and caused injuries to 222 other persons, these resulting from 322 accidents. The number of accidents, fatalities and injured victims far exceeded those of September when there were four people killed, 101 injured and in 314 accidents.

Meanwhile, victims of various accidents were reported making progress as the family of James C. Duke Jr., 22-year-old convict guard, the eleventh fatality of October, who was killed when his car struck a telephone pole on Stewart avenue Wednesday night, made arrangements for his funeral, which will be under the direction of Howard L. Carmichael, of East Point.

Miss Sibyl Gazaway, of Hapeville, one of the three young women riding in the car with young Duke, and two men friends were reported in a serious condition at Grady hospital, though her condition seemed to be improved. Her two sisters, Misses Estelle and Frances Gazaway were reported well on the way to recovery from injuries they sustained.

The first serious accident of the new month was reported Thursday morning when Miss Lena Diamond, 22, of 382 North avenue, N. E., was taken to Crawford W. Long hospital after being struck by a car at Ponce de Leon avenue and Durant place. Miss Diamond is reported to be in a serious condition.

The police arrested James Allison, 22, an Emory student who was driving the car. He was given a copy of charges of reckless driving and a hearing set for November 15 in recorder's court.

Miss Doris Gray, of East Point, injured in an accident at Garnett and Pryor streets Wednesday night, was reported much improved Thursday at Grady hospital.

MANCHOUKHO MOVES FOR MONOPOLY IN OIL

Hinking Disregards Foreign Interests' Protests on Action.

TOKYO, Nov. 1.—(P)—The Manchoukhu government, it was learned today, has already moved to effect an oil monopoly, despite representations by the United States, Great Britain and the Netherlands.

Disregarding the foreign charges that the scheme is discriminatory and violates the principle of the open door, Hinking has instituted steps to assume early possession of extensive marketing and selling system in Manchoukhu by the Standard Oil Company of New York and the British Asiatic Petroleum Company, reliable sources said. They are to be eliminated from profitable distribution and retailing businesses built up during recent decades.

Both companies received from the Manchoukhu ministry of finance notification that the monopoly will be instituted "in the very near future" and that "in all probability the present marketing and selling system will be greatly changed."

Officials of the companies were instructed to report to Hinking on their imports and sales in Manchoukhu since January 1, 1932, where their agents are located and the size of their business, and finally all property, with its cost, dates of erection and other details with a view to its transfer to Manchoukhu upon an estimate of fair valuation.

Previously, it was learned, without notifying the Standard Oil or the British company, officials of Manchoukhu notified the companies' native agents to come to Hinking to confer on their employment under the monopoly setup after the foreign concerns have been eliminated.

INSULL ADMITS SOME "MISTAKES"

said that the formation of such syndicates was "most usual."

Spent for Hoover. Former President Hoover's name came into Insull's testimony over objection from the government. He said he attended a White House conference in 1920, and expanded $200,000,000 in carrying out President Hoover's "business as usual" campaign.

Insull did not take responsibility for the annual statements and circulars of the Corporation Securities Company, now in evidence as pieces of mail fraud. He "wrote an introduction" for one, and "remembered" another.

First defense witness in the mail fraud trial, in which he and 16 others are accused of bilking investors, Insull gave the jury a life history which took up the entire morning session.

To Be Grilled. He will finish his testimony tomorrow, said his attorney, Floyd H. Thompson, and then face cross-examination from Prosecutor Dwight H. Green, who has termed Insull's last venture a "limp" wind.

Facing the jury and speaking to them rather than to his attorney, Insull opened his testimony in a forceful recital of his own life history.

The recital included every good deed, from managing a seed corn house on a hillside in Illinois to providing Chicago with grand opera. He declared strongly that his middle west power pool made him one of the industrial makers of the middle west.

"It's a development that has contributed more toward the wealth of this Mississippi valley than all the money that has been poured into it," he cried proudly.

No Apology. Far from being an apology for the crash of his utility system, in which thousands of investors went down, Insull's testimony was a proud recital of his rise from a 5-shilling-a-week job in London to the throne of an American business empire.

He told of running the first phone switchboard in Europe, of heading the Illinois Defense Council during the war, and of earning an income, before the crash, of $1,000,000 a year as that of the Bank of England's cashier.

"I could have gone to England and lived in great style there, but I've made here," he told the jurors with great force.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin (prime minister of Great Britain) offered me the chairmanship of the British high-tension power development in 1926.

Twice Insull's memoirs moved him to tears. The first came when he recalled "many kindnesses" received from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alva Edison, when he went to work for the famous inventor in New York.

"I looked after all his affairs, from his correspondence to his clothes," said Insull. "He called me 'Sam.'"

"I made Edison a lot of money," he added.

Insull wept again as did some of the other defendants and one of the defense attorneys, when he spoke of Samuel Jr., and three others of the defendants—P. J. McEnroe, John F. O'Keefe and Edward J. Doyle.

"I feel embarrassed because I am sitting in this chair, I feel it more because of these young men among the other defendants," he declared.

He told the jury one group of the defendants desired no blame. "These various people in the Utility Securities Company have no more to do with this case," he declared, "than I have."

There was marked pride in Insull's voice as he turned in his talk—his

Catholics of Germany Rally For War on 'New Paganism'

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press) BERLIN, Nov. 1.—A new move to quiet Protestant opposition to Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller was announced this evening as Catholics made ready to train their heavy guns on Dr. Alfred Rosenberg's new paganist movement.

The reichsbishop's office, which earlier had denied rumors he had resigned as an aftermath of Adolf Hitler's decision to keep the Nazi party out of church affairs, said Mueller had "taken certain measures to bring about rapid amelioration of the situation."

The church ministry official today said Mueller still "feels himself called upon to effect church unity" and "therefore it is nonsense to think he has resigned or will resign," while the reichsbishop himself straightened out his duties to remain in office.

The new peace moves, tonight's communiqué said, consisted of orders that an immediate investigation be made of disputed points of church discipline measures taken against dissenting pastors, with the purpose of clarifying the whole legal position of the church and restoring harmony.

While Catholic leaders prepared to open an offensive against Rosenberg, Nazi "philosophic" lecturer, and the new pagan faith movement he heads, which they regard as particularly likely to be harmful to the young, Minister of Propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels told Germany's youth he was glad it no longer debated religious questions.

The book sent to Catholic priests today was divided into three sections. The first, dealing with church history, was subdivided into sections on Christianity in ancient times, the Middle Ages and the modern era; the second, on the holy writ, into sections on the Old and New Testaments; the third, taking up the problem of the 13th century German dominion monk Eckart, condemned some of his teachings as heresies.

U. OF N. C. ALUMNI WILL DINE TONIGHT. The alumni of the University of North Carolina will have a banquet and "pep meeting" at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel at 7 o'clock tonight.

Robert B. House, dean of the university, will be the principal speaker. William Neal, president of the North Carolina alumni in Atlanta, announced Thursday.

One hundred and fifty students of the university are expected to attend the meeting, which is being held on the eve of the North Carolina-Georgia Tech football game in the hope that as many North Carolina alumni as possible will come to the game and root for their team.

Acted Wrongly. "Sometimes when I look back over the past month and remember the prosecution's charges, I think it may have been wrongly."

Turning in the witness chair to face the jury, Insull gave it great amounts of personal data, without prompting from his attorney.

As a youth he practiced penmanship at night and learned shorthand while his sisters dictated, he recalled. His college, he said, was "Mr. Edison's laboratory."

At the height of his career, when he controlled the biggest utility system under one management, he went to work at 7:30 o'clock, he said, and cleared his desk by 9. Bright young men in his many firms were invited in frequently for "conferences of brains," at which, he said, "I was the autocrat."

Twice he leaned forward in some reminiscence to ask the prosecution to bring him in.

CHARLES HARDIN DIES AT HOME IN FORSYTH

Was Superintendent More Than 20 Years of Dead Letter Office.

Charles Hardin, of Forsyth, prominent in Monroe county political, civic, social and business circles, and who for more than 20 years was superintendent of the dead letter office, Washington, D. C., died Thursday night at his home in Forsyth after an extended illness.

Mr. Hardin was born in Russellville, Ga., October 14, 1861, and in 1891 married Miss Johnnie Thwaitt, who died in 1928. He was the son of the late William Reese Hardin and Elizabeth Smith Hardin, pioneer Georgians.

A leader in church and civil affairs, as well as one of the outstanding political leaders of Monroe county, Mr. Hardin was a senior deacon of the Forsyth Baptist church and for several years had served as clerk of the Monroe superior court as well as clerk of the city of Forsyth.

He is survived by a son, Charles Hardin Jr., of Cuthbert; a daughter, Mrs. R. M. Dominick, of Nashville, Tenn.; two grandchildren, John Ray and Elinor Dominick, of Nashville; a nephew, Hugh H. Hardin, of Forsyth; and two nieces, Mrs. Joseph Bozle, of Forsyth, and Mrs. Richard N. Fickett, of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements will be announced.

Hauptmann Denies Condon Recognition

FLRMINGTON, N. J., Nov. 1.—(P)—A denial by Bruno Richard Hauptmann, suspected slayer of the Lindbergh baby, that Dr. John F. Condon, intermediary in the ransom negotiation, had identified him in the Hunterdon county jail as receiver of the $50,000 ransom money was announced today by Hauptmann's counsel, James M. Fawcett.

While Fawcett, in New York, was making public the details of Dr. Condon's jail visit to Hauptmann, Harry Whitney, who said he was chief investigator for the defense, was issuing a statement here indicating he would fight to upset the order of Attorney General E. A. Tamm, having him from visiting Hauptmann in the jail.

Whitney is not an investigator for the defense, Fawcett said today, but is merely in charge of Mrs. Hauptmann's business affairs.

THE LAUGHING GIRL MYSTERY

By Viola Paradise

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

"A list of your boxholders might help," said Alby. "We have reason to believe the girl was English and was lured to this country by some one who may have used a Long Island address. I've already arranged with Mr. White, the district attorney of this county, for co-operation."

"Well, no harm giving you the list of boxholders. There's not many of them—now and then there's somebody we just can't figure out. This fellow, now." The postmaster sorted out one of the box rent notices. "Jim!" he called to a clerk at the window. "That Mr. Salter been in yet today?"

"Nope," Jim sauntered back to the postmaster's desk. "But he's about due. He always comes the days we get letters from England. There's one in his box now."

"Let's see that letter," said Alby. The clerk looked at the postmaster. "Get it, Jim," said the latter.

Alby reached for the telephone, called the local district attorney, said a few words and hung up the receiver. "Mr. White will be right over. But in case Mr. Salter gets here first—"

"Here's the letter," said the clerk. Alby read the carefully printed address: Victor Salter, Esq., Box 307, Cove City, Long Island, U. S. A.

"There's your Mr. Salter now," said Jim. "See, two blocks down in the brown coat."

"Put something in his box," said Alby. "Quick—those box rent bills will do. I want his fingerprints. And you, Joey, keep your eye on that brown coat. When he hands the rent bills back to you, apologize. And look at his hands, the back of his hands. Delay him as long as you can. Say you think you had a letter for him. Pretend to look for it."

"Harold's voice was vibrant with excitement. 'Gosh, chief, I'm glad you phoned. Asbury Sheridan's will, a man up on the Carinthia, listen to this—Gertrude! Gertrude is on the way to London now, from Birmingham. They'll cable again when she arrives. And listen, A. A. I've got Marlin's fingerprints.' Harold's words tumbled over themselves in his excitement. 'Dinard reacted exactly as you predicted. Higgins is itching to attach bracelets.'"

"Tell Higgins to hold on," said Alby. "I'll bring him an extra pair of wrists."

"Looks, look, they're getting him now. Look, outside the drugstore!" exclaimed Joey.

"Hello, Harold!" Alby spoke into the telephone again. "Tell Higgins the Cove City police will meet him in my office and hand over our Long Island accomplice in about two hours. Meanwhile, corral the whole crowd in my office—the Coes, Wilcox, Dinard, Oswald, Miss Sayre. I've got Joey here. And tell the D. A. and the police commissioner to can throw and tie our party tonight."

Alby hung up the receiver. "Now, I'll have a good look at this letter."

Daisy's letter read: "Dear Cousin Victor: 'Everything is ready. The dress is lovely and I've 12 shillings over. When I get my fortune in September, I'll repay all you've spent on me. And know I shall make you proud of me on the stage. And it will be sweet to make dear Cousin Nan's dream come true.'"

"No, I've not told a soul. Gertrude knows there's to be a journey because I couldn't hide the new trunk. But she doesn't dream of America, or that I'm to be a star! Though I am dying to tell her, but don't worry. I won't. No, I won't make friends on the boat. I can take care of myself. No, I don't keep a diary. Would you like me to? This is the second time you asked."

"Your letter was a day late, so I may get to you before this answer does. Anyhow your instructions came. I'll wait at the dock. If you don't come in two hours, I'll telephone the New York number. I understand how hard it is to arrange about Cousin Nan and I can take a taxi to Twelfth street."

"Love to you both."

"From your affectionate cousin, 'DAISY.'"

At 8 o'clock when Alby and Joey reached Center street they found Harold gloating over a sheaf of cables.

"Did the Cove City police deliver a little gift to Higgins?" Alby asked.

"Yes. And how he's talking right now! Meanwhile, Santa Claus hasn't neglected us." And Harold tapped the papers in his hand.

"Good, everybody on hand?"

"Yep. Out there." Harold nodded towards the outer room. "Except Dinard, who's in reserve, as per orders. What about the reporters? Seems that Coggs tipped them off—phoned them when he got back from the museum that you were about ready for action!"

"Hmm. Wants an audience to see how cleverly he helped teacher. Well, let the reporters in. Joey, go out there with the others and wait."

Joey's face fell, but brightened when Alby added, "Eyes open, and when he comes in, tell me for the cables." Alby added, as Joey closed the door behind him, "But before reading it Alby asked, 'Where did you find Marlin's prints?'"

"Some blurred ones just where you said they'd be. But six beauties on some printed invitations to an archæologists' congress that Dr. Coe is secretary of. Seems Marlin folded them and stuck them into addressed envelopes. Then Coe decided that the social science should have letters, instead of printed bids. Dinard picked out the officers' envelopes while Marlin was having lunch. Luckily they were never missed from him. Each one had a clear print of some part of Marlin's mitt. When Dinard saw Coggs sitting in Marlin's chair, dressed like Marlin, he said an image of Marlin flashed through his mind."

"Great." And Alby read the cable Harold had given him:

"No deaths Carinthia sailing March 28, 1928, except one suicide. Duncan MacDonald, carpenter, third-class passenger, jumped overboard, leaving watch, money and letter confessing fake passport. Cabin-mate Peter Marlin questioned at time but absolved from complicity."

"Jim." Alby gave a satisfied little grunt. Harold handed him another cable:

"Asbury Sheridan, 84, drowned February 9, 1928, with all direct descendants, son, Harold; daughter-in-law, Mary, both grandchildren, Nell and Francis. Supposed cause of accident defective bridge over river on family's return from weekly visit to daughter-in-law's family. Sheridan's other son, Percy, killed in war, 1916. Will, in event of no direct heirs, gives estate to distant cousin, Daisy Satterly, to inherit on twenty-fifth birthday. Sheridan Dinard, another distant cousin, had a letter in tinzenz letter, if said Daisy dies without issue before inheriting. Quotation from will follows: Whereas had blood distaste between his family and mine ever before my half-brother, Dean Sheridan, disgraced our family by turning counterfeiter, for which crime he is now in prison. I, speci- ally provide that no property of mine shall fall to him or his children. And in the remote contingency that all above mentioned legacies shall have descended, such children of said Dean Sheridan as have no prison record may inherit equally. Otherwise my estate is to revert to the crossly, brotherly and sisterly friends of mine, being canvassed. Further cable later."

"And this one came next." Harold handed Alby a third cable:

"Daisy Satterly was last seen at Asbury Sheridan's home as per previous cable. Ballet dancer in small traveling opera troupes since 1920. Salary five pounds weekly. Unmarried, no children. No known relatives except possible descendants of Dean Sheridan. No connection Marlin. Friend Gertrude Smiley, daughter of this man. Exam further."

"There is another," Harold said. "A long one. It's being decoded now. Meanwhile, here's something you'll like." And Harold handed him the last of the papers in his hand.

Alby began to read and his face broadened into a smile just as Higgins appeared in the doorway, grinning.

"Well, we got one pair of bracelets on," was Higgins' greeting.

"That's Higgins' greeting," (Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution.)

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

GUY FAWKES DAY.

Remember, remember, the fifth of November, That was what some boys and girls in England recite or shout on the November holiday which comes each year, and which is known as Guy Fawkes day. Many of the smaller ones do not know the meaning of the words, but they are merry and watch what is going on with interest.

The capture of Guy Fawkes.

Older boys and girls learn about Guy Fawkes in school. More than 300 years ago he took part in a plot to blow up the Parliament building. He was captured before he could light the train of powder which led to the barrels of explosive.

As a punishment, Guy Fawkes was put to death; but members of parliament became fearful for their lives. The plot had been the result of quarrels between Catholics and Protestants, and there was still bitter feeling on the subject. It became a custom to search the building whenever there was a new meeting.

Firecrackers and fireworks are set off in England on Guy Fawkes day in much the same way as in the United States on the Fourth of July. Rockets, pinheils, "flower pots," and sparklers are among the fireworks used at night.

Another custom is the burning of "guys." These are effigies of Guy Fawkes.

A common form of "guy" is made from a sack filled with sawdust, a mask around a ball of paper, sticks for arms, and old stockings filled with leaves, straw and sawdust to stand for legs. An old hat may be placed over the head, and there may be a ragged coat and an old pair of trousers.

The masks, which are sold by stores, have been called "malicious, terrible, ferocious and ugly, all at the same time."

Large stacks of sticks and dry leaves are piled up for the bonfires, and by 8 o'clock in the evening hundreds of fires are in full blaze.

That, in brief, is the story of Guy Fawkes Day in England. Do you think it is a good way to celebrate? There is something about burning people at the stake. Guy Fawkes died long ago, and the burning of his image does not hurt him. Perhaps it does a little harm to those who take part in the "celebration."

Tech Ends Work Today for Tarheels; Georgia Off Tonight

ALEX MAY START NEW BACKFIELD HERE SATURDAY

Injuries to Hays May Give Boyd Chance at Halfback.

By Jimmy Jones.

With Lawrence Hays, the sophomore left halfback who stood out like the proverbial sore thumb against the Tulane Greenies last Saturday, still on the injured list, a change in Georgia Tech's starting backfield for the North Carolina game tomorrow is pending.

Coach William Alexander has been grooming Marvin (Pug) Boyd, the stocky junior speedster, all this week for such an emergency and it is beginning to appear that "Pug" will be given a chance to do a lot of stepping Saturday.

Hays, who turned an ankle in the Tulane game, hasn't been in uniform all week. And yesterday, Coach Alexander had just about made up his mind that he would not be able to use Hays at all Saturday.

COMES IN HANDY. In this event, the fleet Boyd comes in very handy. The boy has been running with amazing speed and deception from Tech's new formation this week. In fact, Boyd, who has been running at second-string quarterback, fits in excellently with Coach Alexander's variation in his offensive maneuvers.

Boyd is an experienced campaigner, a good passer and a very good defensive man. He is surely capable of going in there and doing an excellent job. While he may not start the game, Boyd is certain to see a lot of action as the No. 1 left halfback replacement.

Coach Alexander probably will start "Sundial" Martin at the left halfback post, despite the fact that he has a couple of bruised fingers. Martin did some great running against Tulane Saturday and seems to have come into his own in his second year at Tech.

Due to the fact that Martin has been ailing this year, the Tech coaches haven't played him more than a half date and he didn't start against Tulane. But with Hays hurt, he, too, will be pressed into service for a longer stint Saturday.

REST OF BACKFIELD. The rest of the starting backfield will have the inevitable "Shorts" Roberts at quarterback, Jerry Peterson at right half and Jack Phillips, who is apparently back in his old form, at fullback.

Jimmy Moore, a fast little fellow and good at returning punts, will be in reserve for quarterback duty in case something happens to Roberts. The work was very light yesterday. Coach Alex having dispensed with the heavy scrimmaging on Wednesday.

There was only a scrimmage for the linemen yesterday, while the backs, out in light togas, took it fairly lightly, being drilled on defense against the highly-touted Tarheel attack.

As proof of the fact that the Tech coaches fear the Carolina passing game most, the linemen were drilled on rushing the passer and kicking during their scrimmage.

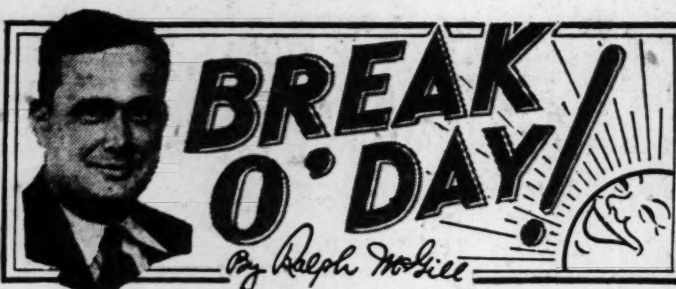

FEW INJURIES. Outside of Hays' hurt, the squad is fairly free of injuries. Billy Street has a dislocated finger, but it is nothing to keep him from being used at right half if needed.

Trainer Mike Chambers has been ill ever since Monday and his capable assistants have carried on for him. Fortunately there has been no siege of injuries such as that which beset Tech prior to the Tulane game, and on which Mike did such a fine job.

The Carolina team, said to be without the full-time services of Charlie Shaffer, one of their ace pass receivers and running backs, will throw a strong and varied attack at the Jacks Saturday. The Tarheels have a big rugged line and some capable runners and passers in Don Jackson, Mack Bell, Hutcheson, Dashiell and others.

And it is not a dead settled fact that Charlie Shaffer will not play. Chances are he will, since he has only an ankle injury that is not serious.

Atlanta-to-the-Sea in Old Car No. 21--Whatta Trip!

EN ROUTE WITH CONSTITUTION MOTORCADE FROM ATLANTA TO THE SEA, Nov. 1.—So far as I know this is the first running story of a motorcade ever written. We are rolling from Atlanta to the sea at an average speed of 50 miles an hour.

And your correspondent is sitting in the back seat of Car No. 21 with a portable typewriter balanced on his knees pecking out the words as we go along. That may give you an idea of how good this road is, and also how well old No. 21 is behaving.

Mr. Oscar Strauss Jr. is at the wheel. And he yells a warning when the brakes are to go on suddenly so that I may clutch the typewriter and not suddenly find myself staring at the landscape with my head stuck through the windshield.

I have battled away at this typewriter on airplanes, on trains and on ocean steamships, but there is more fun in this—a running story from the back seat of a car in The Constitution motorcade.

At Conyers the school kids lined the road and they were fine, the colored kids had flowers and waved at us, showing rows of flashing white teeth as we passed by. At Covington the school children were out to greet us and at Eatonton we all halted to pay our respects to Uncle Remus and his memory. There is a replica of Uncle Remus' cabin there beside a tablet on Georgia marble on which is a bronze plaque in memory of Joel Chandler Harris, Putnam county's greatest son.

AT MILLEDGEVILLE.

Milledgeville was great. This is being written along the road out of that beautiful city, the old war-time capital of Georgia, where Tecumseh Sherman had a little fun with the torch. But Milledgeville came back.

We rode through the city, with the crowds lining the walks. On the G. M. C. campus, the cadets were standing at attention as we passed and saw them and the historic old building about which their college is built. It was old a century ago.

At the Georgia State Women's College we had lunch. They were wonderfully organized, giving a splendid lunch to 800 of us.

And for this reporter there was a great thrill in having a group of kids come up and say they read Break O' Day and had been watching for Car No. 21 in the motorcade.

Mr. Strauss and I have been delighted with old No. 21. Greetings were hurled at her all along the way. And no rocks. Greetings are much better to hurl than Irish confetti.

The young ladies who are coaches and captains of the college teams were met and they were all beautiful, intelligent and interesting. A splendid visit, the one to Milledgeville.

ROLLING ALONG.

And now we are just riding. Too bad you aren't along. Let's look. The entire route from Atlanta to the sea knows we are coming. Schools turned out. We just passed a colored school and the kids were all out waving. Some had corn-stalks, the better to wave. At filling stations, crowds wait to wave and cheer. There's a sign up ahead, "Welcome to Washington County." The vivid and eternal green of the pine trees are half-hidden by the colored leaves of the changing trees, but the weather is warm. There are great pictures along the way.

Twice I have seen old, old negro men who had pulled chairs out near the road to sit there and wait for us in the sun, their beards and their hair white as wool, and sitting before lonely cabins. In cotton fields toil-worn women stand and wave.

And I wonder, looking at them, what must their dreams be and if they are longing to be a part of this gay caravan of cars that rolls swiftly on, flags fluttering and here and there a band playing, as we hurry to the sea.

The road stretches on. Ahead of us the cars climb the hill. As we reach the top we look back and see the others, almost 200 of them, stretching far back down the road until they seem to be little dots.

GREAT STORIES.

We hear great stories. There was one in Milledgeville of how William Gibbs McAdoo once jerked soda in a drug store there. Of a drug store which was founded by a wrecked ship's doctor who managed to reach shore near Savannah and bring with him the ship's clock and thermometer. That was almost 80 years ago and the thermometer is still doing its job in the store.

Sherman's troops marched along the route we are going, growing fat and sassy as they disappeared into the pines of Georgia to live off the land and let the north wait anxiously for word of them and get none until they appeared at the coast with the Confederacy crushed weeks later.

They required weeks and weeks of travel and hardship. We left Atlanta at 8 o'clock and will eat dinner in Savannah tonight. And I can sit in the back seat of a car that goes 50 miles an hour and use a typewriter. Such thoughts are fascinating. From Atlanta to the sea. That is a great line in itself.

SANDERSVILLE CITY LIMITS.

Here is Sandersville and the city limits. Before all the cabins stand the negroes, waving. Women had brought little children and hold them up and point. The cars slow down. Kids begin to run along beside them. We enter the town. Kids with school books appear. Several beautiful young ladies in cowboy costumes are on horseback at the head of the street to welcome us.

The population of the town is out on the sidewalks. The cars begin to sound sirens. There are decorations. The motorcade is popular. The old homes here and in other cities are beautiful with a nostalgic beauty that is often so beautiful it cannot be described.

We are all having so much fun. The crowds out to see us catch a part of it. "I want to go, too," yells an old lady.

AT LOUISVILLE.

And now Louisville, the first permanent capital of Georgia and the third on this four-capitals highway and more crowds. Here the Yazoo fraud papers were burned, all of them, so the state might have no record of the shame. Someone had a great idea and burned the papers with fire drawn from the sun by use of a magnifying glass.

Great people here and all through this magnificent route. We are reading again. And Savannah is not far away. This must be dropped off at some telegraph station.

Good old No. 21 is eager to go. May I recommend this route from Atlanta to the sea? Are we coaxed up, Mr. Strauss? Then let us off and away. I have heard things about the night clubs of Savannah. Mr. Strauss and I will be seeing you.

LOTT TURNS PRO AND WILL PLAY ON TILDEN TOUR

Doubles Star To Get Percentage; Grant Denies Offer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—George Martin Lott Jr., of Chicago, co-holder of the national indoor and outdoor doubles championships and recognized as the world's outstanding doubles tennis player, turned professional today, signing a contract to join a four-month pro barnstorming tour under the sponsorship of Bill O'Brien, sports promoter.

The 28-year-old midwesterner, who was a member of six American Davis cup teams and was listed in the United States' first 10 seven times in the past 10 years, refused a flat sum of $10,000 offered by O'Brien and his partner, William (Big Bill) Tilden and affixed his signature to a document specifying a percentage of the gross gate receipts.

In announcing Lott's contract, O'Brien revealed that they actually came to terms four days ago and that announcement was held up in the hopes Lester Rollo Stofen, of Los Angeles, joint holder with Lott of the two American titles, would also accept a similar contract.

"We expect to announce the personnel of our tour, commencing January, next week and by that time we hope Stofen will make up his mind," O'Brien said.

"In the event Stofen rejects the offer we will have to search through the amateur ranks for a suitable doubles partner for Lott."

Lott and Stofen registered the lone victory of the United States' team in America's unsuccessful attempt to wrest the international Davis cup from Great Britain at Wimbledon last August. They scored a four-set triumph over the English duo, Harold G. N. Lee and Patrick Hughes.

Lott first gained national recognition in 1924, when he was ranked ninth in the "first 10." His rank thereafter followed: 1926, ninth; 1928, third; 1929, fourth; 1930, seventh; 1931, second; 1932, tenth.

His departure from the "Simon-pure" fold is the second blow struck this week at America's 1933 Davis cup hopes. Two days ago Frank X. Shields, America's No. 1, signed a seven-year contract and it is expected his new underwriting will take up too much time to permit him to actively engage in tennis.

Lester Stofen Considers Offer.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Lester Stofen said tonight he was not prepared to act immediately on offers to join George Lott, his Davis cup doubles partner, in the professional tennis ranks.

"I have been considering several offers for some time," said the elongated Los Angeles star, "but I have signed no contract and I am not prepared to say now, when or if I will."

The statement was made following the announcement from New York by Bill O'Brien that Lott had been signed for the winter tour.

Those close to the professional situation here said Stofen was almost certain to join the play-and-pay tour before it starts out this winter.

Bliss Grant, sensational Georgia player, it was said, also had been made an offer by O'Brien.

Grant To Remain In Business Here.

Bryan Grant last night told The Constitution that he had received no offer to become a professional tennis player and that he would not even consider such a move.

"I have not received an offer from anyone to join the professional tennis ranks," Grant said, "and I should I receive such an offer I would not even consider it. I am in the insurance business here and plan to remain in that line. No professional tennis for me."

"Jo Jo" White Honored at College Park Dinner

Admirers and friends of "Jo Jo" White, sensational young Detroit outfielder from College Park, honored him last night with a dinner, given by the Inter-City Civitans Club of Hapeville, East Point and College Park, which was attended by a galaxy of Georgia baseball stars and celebrities. In the above picture, White, the fielding star of the 1934

Civitans Honor White At Colorful Banquet

Baseball Celebrities Pay Tribute to College Park Boy, World Series Star.

By Jimmy Jones.

A smiling, flaxen-haired youth who might still pass for a high school boy instead of a World Series hero, sat in the seat of honor last night and blushing heard tribute after tribute paid him by men prominent in business, athletic and civic affairs.

The lion of the evening at the Inter-City Civitans' testimonial dinner held at the Woman's Club in College Park was none other than Joyner (Jo Jo) White, 25-year-old outfielder of the Detroit Tigers and resident of that charming little municipality on Atlanta's outskirts.

"Jo Jo" himself, the picture of boyish bashfulness, sat at a long table, flanked by his proud wife and his proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. White, and accepted this endless flow of superlatives with a charming naivete that is typical of the boy.

There probably never has been and never shall be such another collection of baseball celebrities assembled at one place and for such a purpose. The big, commodious clubroom fairly sparkled with the great and the near-great of Georgia baseball, stars of the past and the present, the battle-scarred old-timers with the bronzed cheeks and the silver locks and the youngsters with the ardor of the game's first touch about them.

OLD AND YOUNG. They ranged in years and magnitude from grizzled veterans of the old guard such as Jimmy Lavender, of Montezuma, the old Chicago Cub spitball star who stopped Rube Marquard's record of 19 straight games with a shutout; Jim LeFitte, the catcher, and Sammy Mayer, the outfielder, on down to the present big league stars, like Luke Appling, of Atlanta; Cecil Travis, of Fayetteville, and Jo Jo, himself.

As Major Trammell Scott so aptly put it in his eloquent speech: "They are like to be a manager and had the choice of picking a ball club from this bunch."

As a matter of fact, the major or anyone else could have picked almost two complete ball clubs of big league caliber from the outlay of big league talent that was present. And all native Georgians, some of the rugged red clay, if you please.

MANNING TOASTMASTER. "Ham" Manning, who made a delightful toastmaster for the occasion, remarked before beginning his duties of the evening:

"I'm a Georgia Cracker and I never knew that we had so many star ball players right here under our very nose."

Well, they were all there. And, furthermore, the beautiful Miss Josephine Bowling, College Park's star of another series—the Georgia Peach ball at the Century of Progress—was there in all her striking brunet loveliness.

Consequently there was never a dull moment from the time Deputy Sheriff Jim Bazemore arose and presented Quincy Arnold, the president of the Inter-City Civitans of Hapeville, East Point and College Park, until the last toast was said.

MEHRE GIVES HIS BULLDOGS 'SKULL' DRILL

Wagnon Rejoins Squad. Georgia Coach Guards Against Injuries.

By Bill Ray.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 1.—The offensive side of the Georgia football team was stressed this afternoon with two teams taking a long workout against freshmen and scrubs. It was a dummy affair with the boys trotting through plays as Coach Harry Mehre refused to take any further chances with injuries in scrimmages.

The Bulldogs leave tonight for Jacksonville and the Florida game Saturday.

Sadly disappointed with the performance of the team on offense against Alabama last Saturday, Coach Mehre had the eleven working on the rudimentary elements of the various Georgia plays. Each man on the squad received detailed instructions as to what man he was supposed to take out or in to make the play click.

Henry Wagnon, veteran end from Bostwick, Ga., returned to the squad today after spending two days in the university infirmary with a severe head cold.

ONLY TWO MISSING. The return of Wagnon brought the last of the injured and ailing players back into the fold with the exception of Dave "Butch" McCullough, Atlanta guard, and Charles Harrold, Macon end, both of whom are definitely out for the rest of the season.

Working on the first team were: Captain Charley Turbeyville and Henry Wagnon, ends; Allen Shi and John West, tackles; Frank John and John Brown, guards; John McKnight, center; Charley Treadway, quarterback; Paul Causey and Al Minot, halfbacks, and Maurice Green, fullback.

FOX LAIR WINS.

NEWMARKET, England, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. C. Glorney's Fox Lair, at 4 to 1, today won the Richmond Nursery stakes.

By FREDERICK GARDNER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The stock market picked its way hesitantly along a narrow path today, paying little heed to a brisk rally in wheat and brighter business prophecies.

Except for grains, a decline in rubber futures and scattered strength in the share list, the main drift of prices was downward.

Bonds felt the drag of selling in United States government issues. In contrast with the heaviness of treasury issues, the dollar continued to gain at the expense of some of the European gold currencies and gold imports from France were predicted.

Stocks were indifferent in the face of Henry Ford's buoyant view of his 1934 sales prospects, an advance in tire prices and efforts to stabilize the crude oil and gasoline market.

Trading expanded a little, turnover reaching 541,960 shares against 416,800 yesterday. But most speculators continued to move cautiously.

The Standard Statistics Company average for 90 stocks for the fifth day moved within a range of less than a point. It dipped two-tenths of a point to 69.7.

Wheat rebounded for net gains of 1 1/2 to 2 cents a bushel at Chicago. Influenced by Canadian restrictions on price fluctuations. Corn and rye ended with gains ranging up to 1-1/2 cents.

Rubber regained about 1-1/4 of a cent a pound of its previous decline. Cotton yielded for further losses of 25 to 30 cents a bale.

Rail and utility shares retreated before a steady dribble of liquidation. Industrials did comparatively better, but gains were small.

Prospects of a seasonal decline in freight traffic restricted support for carrier shares. Union Pacific lost 2-1/4. Louisville & Nashville nearly 3.

Other weak spots were in oil, silver, preferred, off about 5 points; Beech-Nut Packing, down 2; Penick & Ford, down more than a point, and United Fruit, off.

American Can, American Telephone, United States Steel, Chrysler and other leaders of the list moved narrowly, finishing with fractional changes up and down.

National Distillers and Schenley portrayed, with small gains, a firmer market for liquor stocks.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The New York stock market was a scene of confusion and scattered railway securities today gave the bond market a somewhat softer appearance.

Owing to the increased activity in the federal list, transfers totaling $16,000,000, par value, against $12,000,000 in the previous session, the turnover of government securities accounted for 50 percent of the aggregate. The Standard Statistics Co. average for 60 domestic corporate issues was off one-tenth of a point at 84.1.

Losses in the government section ranged from 3-3/4 to 13-3/4 of a point. There were more than $2,000,000 of treasury 3s of 1940-48 changed hands at a decline of 10-3/4.

While prime corporate bonds were not unchanged to slightly higher in many instances, a number of reporting carrier issues were under pressure. Among these were Baltimore & Ohio 5s, off 1-1/2 at 68-1/4; Central of Georgia 5s, off 3-4 at 18-3/4; New York Central 5s, off 1-1/4 at 64-1/4; Pennsylvania 4-1/2s, off 7-8 at 81-1/2; and Virginia Railway 5s, off 1-1/4 at 108.

A steady to firmer tone was displayed by some loans of American Telephone, United Pacific, Santa Fe, Hudson Gas, Inland Steel, Pure Oil and Wheeling Steel.

In the foreign division, Argentine bonds dropped a point or so, but most of the Germans were up as much.

LOANS TO BROKERS

DECREASE IN WEEK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Loans on securities to brokers and dealers held by weekly reporting member banks in New York city for their own accounts amounted to $614,000,000 during the week ended October 31, representing a decline of $22,000,000 for the week.

Loans for the week ended November 1, 1933, were $641,000,000. Announcing the results of the loans, the federal reserve board gave the following detailed description over the three weeks dealt with:

In New York City, the $31,850,000,000; October 24, $35,700,000,000; November 1, 1933, $30,900,000,000. Outside New York—October 31, $50,000,000; November 1, 1933, $47,000,000.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—The market appears to be in a state of confusion. The result of the recent session which developed in the early afternoon of Thursday's market was a firm tone in the two previous sessions. The time being, constructive sources are insufficient in number to extend the rally at this time.

DORRIS & CO.—The present type of narrow movement during the last few days has often preceded a substantial long-term advance in the market.

COURTIS & CO.—The market is very thin and any volume of buying or selling would be of great importance. The market is in a state of confusion.

ABBOTT, PROCTOR & FAINE—The market is in a state of confusion. The result of the recent session which developed in the early afternoon of Thursday's market was a firm tone in the two previous sessions.

FENNER & BEANE—We believe that purchases on any further decline are advisable. The market is in a state of confusion.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DORRIS & CO.—The market is in a state of confusion. The result of the recent session which developed in the early afternoon of Thursday's market was a firm tone in the two previous sessions.

SUGAR AND COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Raw sugar was quiet today and sales were reported. In absence of any aggressive selling, and in sympathy with the situation in the spot market, futures were firm, although the volume of business was light, with trading generally in the 1000 lb. contract.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Coffee was quiet but steady today on light foreign buying. The market is in a state of confusion.

Money Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Foreign exchange was quiet. The market is in a state of confusion.

2 HOTEL BANDITS SHOT BY POLICE

One Slain, Brother May Die After Gunplay in Birmingham Trap.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 1.—(AP) Two youthful brothers, turned hotel bandits, today reached the end of the road, one on a slab in a morgue, the other a hospital bed with probable mortal wounds.

The brothers, Luther E. Coates, 22, killed in a spectacular battle with police last night, and Kelly Coates, 17, were shot in a second attempt to rob guests in downtown hotels when detectives lay in wait for them.

Chief of Police Luther E. Hollums this afternoon announced that young Coates from his hospital bed had admitted numerous robberies of guests in their hotel rooms in southern cities in recent months.

Hollums listed New Orleans and Baton Rouge, La., Meridian, Jackson and Columbus, Miss., and Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., in addition to Birmingham as cities in which young Coates admitted he and his brother had victimized hotel guests.

The paid had invaded the Bankhead hotel and obtained $6, in holding up S. L. Lowe, a bus driver, whom they tied in a chair with bed clothing, and then moved to the Belmont hotel to further their raiting for the night, but fell into a police trap.

After obtaining $98 from E. C. and E. L. Byrd, of Little Rock, Ark., the bandit pair saw police waiting for them and opened fire. One officer, Detective A. C. McGuire, was wounded by the bandits as they sped for the stairs.

In the lobby other officers opened fire as the Coates sought escape through a side entrance. Still more policemen, waited in the street and opened fire.

Luther Coates dropped at an alley, nine bullets in his body, and Kelly escaped, finding refuge beneath a house.

Less than 12 hours later he was in custody, however, his bloodsoaked clothing which he sent to a cleaner in suburban Bessemer furnishing the clue.

DR. W. F. QUILLIAN WILL BE SPEAKER AT EMORY BANQUET

Dr. W. F. Quillian, of Nashville, will be the chief speaker at Emory University's Parents' Day banquet Wednesday, November 7.

Dr. Quillian, who is the father of Bill Quillian, president of the Emory Y. M. C. A., is general secretary of the board of Christian education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He is a former president of Wesleyan College at Macon.

Parents' Day is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. at Emory in order to better acquaint parents with the type of work the students are doing. Since its origin at Emory seven years ago it has been known as "Dad's Day," but the name was changed this year because of the increased interest on the part of mothers during the past few years.

Music by the Emory Aces and a double quartet from the Emory Glee Club will be a feature of the banquet program. Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey will direct the singers in spirituals, folk songs, and several classical numbers.

The program for the banquet is being arranged under the direction of Fred Wilson, chairman of the "Y's" Parents' Day committee, and Emmett S. Johnson, general secretary of the "Y" at Emory.

JEWISH GROUP TO HEAR SPORTS AUTHORITIES

The Boys' Club Council of the Jewish Educational Alliance will sponsor a gigantic rally at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, November 4, at the Alliance auditorium, 318 Capitol avenue.

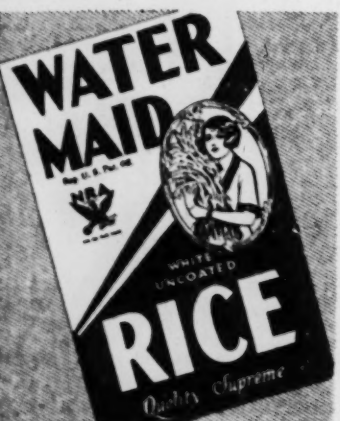

Ralph McGill, sports editor of The Atlanta Constitution, Ed Danforth, sports editor of the Atlanta Georgian and Sunday American, and O. B. Keeler, sports writer of the Atlanta Journal, will speak on the program. Speakers from the sports world itself will include Roy Mundorff, Georgia Tech basketball coach, and Freddie Singleton, Alabama All-American tackle. George C. Griffin, assistant dean of men at Georgia Tech, and Edward M. Kahn, director of the Alliance, will also make talks.

Motion pictures of some of Georgia Tech's famous football games, including the Rose Bowl game of 1928, will be shown through the courtesy of the Tech Athletic Association.

Julian Boehm, widely known member of the Atlanta Magicians' Club, will offer a demonstration of his skill.

The program is under the direction of Barney Medina, athletic director of the Alliance.

REMEMBER THIS TRADE-MARK WHEN YOU BUY RICE

TRY THIS RECIPE

Here's a recipe which won first prize in a contest conducted by the Louisiana State Rice Milling Co., Inc., the producers of Water Maid Rice. Easy to make, economical and delicious!

CREOLE RICE

INGREDIENTS: 2½ cups WATER MAID RICE; 3 cups water; 1 teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons bacon fat; 5 slices bacon (or as much fat ham); 1½ cup chopped onions; 2 cloves garlic (if desired); 3 fresh tomatoes (or one No. 1 can tomatoes); 2 green peppers—minced. Boil rice for 15 minutes. Fry bacon or ham crisp brown, chop into rice. Fry onions, garlic, green peppers, in bacon fat, add tomatoes. Cook 5 minutes; add seasonings, then add to the rice. Mix well. Cover. Cook slowly for 20 minutes. Garnish with parsley and two or three crisp brown slices of bacon. Note: Left-over chicken, turkey, or roast may be used instead of bacon or ham.

VETS OF FOREIGN WARS LAUD DRIVE ON 'REDS'

Actuated by the receipt of alleged seditious literature by one of its members, Greater Atlanta Post 390, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, has passed a resolution condemning the circulation of such literature and praising Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and others for their efforts toward stamping out radicalism.

One of the pieces of literature complained of is the Negro Liberator, a New York paper, said to be edited by Ben J. Davis Jr., negro attorney of Atlanta. According to the resolution this and other objectionable matter was left at the home of Thomas D. Hartson, a member of the organization, who brought it to the attention of the post.

Literature Assailed. Referring to the literature as "villainous, despicable and dastardly attempts on the part of non-residents of this city and state to arouse racial feeling," and "to undermine the peace, dignity and good order of the state," the resolution particularly commends Mr. Boykin, John H. Hudson, assistant solicitor, Judge James C. Davis, of DeKalb county, and Chief of Police Parker, of Decatur, for their efforts to stamp out the organization responsible for such attempts.

The post places itself on record as unalterably opposed to such un-American propaganda and pledges its whole-hearted support in any action to eradicate seditious activities and asks that the members of the post be called upon to render any service to this end.

Negro Freed on Bond. Developments in the "red situation" Thursday resulted in the release on his own bond of John Grant, one of eight negroes recently arrested and charged with circulating insurrectionary literature. The negro's release was ordered after a long conference between Assistant Solicitor-General John H. Hudson and Sydney H. Baynes, the man's attorney. Baynes filed a petition in the man's behalf asking that his case remain in Fulton superior court. In a previously filed petition John Geer, negro attorney, asked that the eight cases be transferred to the federal court. Grant sets forth that he has never employed Geer as his attorney and that his name was included in the petition through inadvertence on Geer's part. It was understood that Grant's release was ordered after it had been shown that he has an excellent record as a railroad employee for 24 years, having been a trusted employee of A. B. & C. road for the past 14 years. His attorney contends that he is a victim of circumstances and was arrested in error.
